This City to Entertain Valley Chamber of Commerce Delegates

BIG PROGRAM AT ANNUAL BOOSTERS' SESSION

Officers Invite All of Local Members to Meeting Tomorrow

The Glendale Chamber of Commerce will be host to forty representatives of the San Fernando Valley Associated Chambers of Commerce at the annual meeting held in this city Tuesday night at 6:30 o'clock at the Tuesday Afternoon club building. The visitors will represent thirteen cities in the San Fernando valley, comprising the Associated Chambers of Commerce.

Similar meetings are held in each city of the chamber's membership once every year.

President Jesse E. Smith of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce will call the meeting to order tomorrow night and will preside as chairman during the dinner hour and while the local program is being presented, as follows:

Entertainment Program—Community singing, led by Captain Ripley D. Jackson.

Address of welcome for the city of Glendale, Mayor Spencer Robinson.

Vocal solo, selected, Mrs. Viva Lee Weidman.

Address of welcome for Chamber of Commerce, First Vice President W. E. Hewitt.

Vocal solo, selected, Captain D. Ripley Jackson.

Response to addresses of welcome, B. R. Hallway, president of the Associated Chambers of Commerce.

Vocal solo, selected, Miss Marie Oliver.

At the conclusion of the program the Chamber of Commerce meeting will be turned over to President Hallway, and it is expected, according to Secretary E. F. Sanders of the local chamber, that an

Accused Embezzler Fails to Make Bond

CHICAGO, Nov. 26.—Charles Appel, father of Lila Lee, the movie star, who disappeared from Chicago and is being sought on an indictment charging embezzling of $250,000, did not give himself up here today as the California attorney Miss Lee retained for her father promised a week ago. "I have been a bondsman," Attorney Charles A. McGee, of Oakland, who apparently has been keeping in touch with Appel, explained. "But I expect to arrange matters soon, and have Appel here within another ten days or two weeks."

Voters Register to Vote in Bond Election on Jan. 8

Voters of Glendale are taking advantage of the services of the two deputy registrars who are maintaining an all-day service at the offices of The Glendale Evening News, and the names that are being added to the lists show that keen interest is being taken all over the city in the approaching sewer bond election.

C. J. Weidman and Ralph A. Lynd will be at The Glendale Evening News offices daily from 7:30 a. m. until 9 p. m. in order to permit those not yet registered to place their names on the rolls for the coming election, and it is advisable that those who desire to express themselves on the bond issue register as soon as possible, as the last minute rush will, it is expected, come near to swamping the deputies with work.

Coolidge Orders Complete Inquiry Into Craig Case

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26.—President Coolidge has ordered Attorney General Daugherty to make a thorough investigation of the legal aspects of the sentencing of Comptroller Charles L. Craig of New York to serve sixty days in a New Jersey jail for contempt of Judge Julius Mayer, it was announced officially at the White House today.

The question upon which the president desires an official ruling is whether or not he has the authority, under the law and the constitution, to issue a pardon to Craig, if the facts should warrant such action.

From his home in Columbus, Ohio, Attorney General Daugherty has telegraphed to the department of justice specific directions for carrying out the president's orders, according to a White House spokesman.

SEEK CRAIG PROBE FROM CONGRESS

Friends of N. Y. Official Sentenced to Jail Demand Inquiry

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—Plans to bring about a congressional investigation of the fact underlying the contempt of court sentence imposed upon Charles L. Craig, New York City comptroller, by Federal Judge Julius M. Mayer, moved rapidly today.

Friends of Craig pointed out that the proposed investigation would not relieve Craig from serving the 60-day sentence but would result in revealing what they allege to be the true facts. Hundreds of leading citizens were expected to respond to an appeal of Craig's friends to demand of their congressmen that an inquiry be opened early next month.

Gets Receivership

Craig's sentence is the outgrowth of efforts of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit company to secure an 8-cent subway and elevated fare. The company sought a receivership from Judge Mayer. This was granted, Craig, basing his demand on the fact that New York City had invested heavily in the subway, said the city should have an officer among the receivers appointed. This Judge Mayer denied.

Craig then wrote to Lewis Nixon, public service commissioner, attacking Justice Mayer's action, charging the ruling was in reality a refusal to allow the city to see the company's books and records.

Judge Mayer then held Craig in contempt of court and imposed a 60-day sentence. Craig appealed to the supreme court of the United States, alleging Justice Mayer was without jurisdiction. The higher court held Mayer had jurisdiction.

Rum Schooner Owned by Americans, Claim

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26.—Belief among officials that the British-registered rum schooner Tomaka, seized off the New Jersey coast Sunday by United States customs officers, was American owned accounted for the apparent disregard of the principle of the three-mile limit in the pursuit and capture of the vessel, it was learned here today.

The twelve-mile treaty between the American and British governments is not yet completed and correctly the three-mile limit law is still operative. Unless the American customs agents can prove definitely the Tomaka had direct communication with the American shore, the government is open to a protest and a bill of damages from the British owners.

DESTRUCTION AND DEATH IN STORM

Telephones Fail, Traffic Is Blocked as Gale Hits Throughout East

ALBANY, N. Y., Nov. 26.—Eastern, and northern New York today is digging itself out of a snowstorm of blizzard proportions that swept in from the west on the wings of a winter gale, bearing death and destruction.

Telephone and telegraph service was almost crippled; street car service was disrupted for hours and train service was impaired.

Scores of automobiles were snow bound for hours in country roads in the foothills of the Catskills. In some places the roads were blocked by drifts ten feet high.

Two deaths and scores of accidents in this section were blamed to the storm. Joseph Lawrence, 26, of Hoffmans, was killed by a New York Central train which he failed to see while blinded by the snow.

Abraham Masters, of Albany, was killed by an automobile while trying to shield himself from the fury of the storm with an umbrella.

Ten inches fell in Eastern New York. This was one of the heaviest snowstorms for November in years.

Hundreds of Automobiles Stalled in Snowdrifts

BOSTON, Nov. 26.—Many cities and towns in Central and Western Massachusetts, Connecticut, Vermont and Northern New York were practically isolated today by heavy snows.

Telephone communication was tied up and highways blocked. Several hundred automobiles were stalled in snowdrifts.

Death and Injuries in Week-end Crashes

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 26.—One dead and a number badly injured were the bay city's Sunday automobile accident toll. For Senoia, 24, bank clerk and son of William T. Senoia, wealthy San Francisco banker, faces a charge of manslaughter as a result of the death of Leo Fogarty, 36, world war veteran, who was struck down on Market street early Sunday morning. Young Senoia denies having knowingly hit any one but according to the police his car was pursued and the number secured by witnesses. He was driving home from a dance on the highway when the latter attempted to arrest him. McAniff was dragged twenty feet and left unconscious. Redwood City authorities declared.

Glendale Represented on Clubwomen's Board

Glendale has gained representation on the California Local Biennial board, arranging for the national gathering of clubwomen in June in Los Angeles, by the appointment of Mrs. C. E. Hutchison, 2446 North Orange street.

Mrs. Hutchison, who is past president and honorary life member of the Tuesday Afternoon club, has been chosen as chairman of the bureau of information for the biennial.

SECOND WEEK OF TRIAL

REDDING, Nov. 26.—The trial of William Slater, Al Aubrey, Philip Peters, jointly charged with murdering Joseph Bogan in the holdup of a poker game at Pit River on August 19, entered on its second week this morning.

NEW PREMIER IS SEEKING CABINET

Dr. Albert, German Agent in U. S. During War, Now Chief for Ebert

By S. D. WEYER
For International News Service
BERLIN, Nov. 26.—The new German government, being formed today by Dr. Heinrich Albert, will most likely go down in history as the "bouncer cabinet." It stands little chance of being accepted by the Reichstag when it is introduced, possibly tomorrow.

President Ebert is determined to dissolve parliament if the Albert ministry is rejected.

Count Von Brockdorff-Rantzau was mentioned as probable foreign secretary. He was head of the German delegation at Paris who refused to sign the Versailles treaty, and resigned his post rather than do so.

Dr. Albert, during the early years of the war, was chief propaganda and fiscal agent in the United States, with offices in New York.

Dr. Albert, in the strict sense of the word, is not a party man, and his ministry was expected to be non-partisan.

Two other statesmen had been asked to form a government to succeed the Stresemann ministry before Dr. Albert undertook the task. They were Herr von Kardorff and Herr Jarres.

Attempt Is Being Made to Increase Production

DUSSELDORF, Nov. 26.—Negotiations between German industrialists and the Franco-Belgian economic commission to increase production in the Ruhr and to allay labor disorders have been resumed, it was learned today.

The allied commission was secret of the fact they hope the German coal, iron and steel magnates will sign final agreements. Already some agreements have been accepted by the occupational forces and German mine owners. The allies and the Germans are now haunted by the nightmare of millions of unemployed in the streets, provoked by hunger and cold to bloody rioting and chaos.

Leviathan Sets New Trans-Atlantic Time

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—A new trans-Atlantic speed record was set by the American liner, which arrived today from Southampton and Cherbourg. The Leviathan made the 3078 miles from Cherbourg in five days, seven hours and twenty minutes, beating Mauretania's record by thirteen minutes.

ASKS INDEPENDENCE FOR PHILIPPINES

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26.—President Coolidge was asked today by Pedro Guevarra, Philippine commissioner to the United States, to incorporate in his forthcoming message to congress a recommendation for complete independence for the Philippines. The president declined to commit himself, but talked with Guevarra on Philippine affairs.

ONE KILLED AND TWO INJURED IN CRASH

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 26.—J. C. Potter was killed and A. F. Richardson of Seal Beach, and A. L. Barnes, of Compton, were seriously injured in an automobile crash today near the state hospital at Norwalk when the automobile in which the three men were riding and a stage collided, according to brief reports received here. No details of how the crash happened were available.

Noted Women Take Part In Great Britain Election

Economic Problems Brought Into Political Fight by Candidates

LONDON, Nov. 26.—In the general election soon to be held in England the wise Labor party is laying plans to capture the feminine vote by nominating prominent women for Parliament.

Among those already slated to be Labor party nominees for the House of Commons may be mentioned Mrs. Philip Snowden, student of social problems, whose husband, already a Labor member of the house, is advocating state ownership of all production and distribution; the Countess of Warwick, wealthy aristocrat and parlor socialist; and mistress of historic Warwick Castle; and Margaret Bondfield, the "lay saint" of the Labor party who last September was elected chairman of the general council of the British Trades' Union Congress.

Prominent Women

Mrs. Snowden and Miss Bondfield are well known in the United States, where both have lectured. Mrs. Snowden has an international reputation as a social worker and reformer. Although not a militant, she was a leader of British women in their victorious struggle for the ballot. Miss Bondfield is a Socialist of a moderate shade. She has twice contested the constituency of Nottingham, and although defeated she increased the Labor vote by many thousands on both occasions.

The Countess of Warwick, though an earnest Laborite, has not entirely disclaimed herself from the aristocrats with whom she has passed the most of her life. She speaks before audiences of workmen clad in fashionable

MANY ENTER IN BRITISH CONTEST

About 1382 Candidates for 615 Seats; Number of Women in Fight

By DAVID M. CHURCH
For International News Service

LONDON, Nov. 26.—With a heavy fog prevailing which cast a midnight darkness over the land, political candidates today filed their official nominations for the general election on December 6. The outcome of the election was regarded as nearly as obscure as the weather.

It was estimated that about 1,382 candidates would be in the field for election to the House of Commons, but only 615 seats were to be filled. Many women are seeking election.

According to announcements from the various party headquarters, the following nominations were to be filed:

Tories (supporters of a protective tariff), 531; Laborites (free traders), 420; Laborites, 416; Independents, communists and nationalists, fifteen.

Women in Contest

Thirty-seven women who announced their intention of filing nominations follow:

Tories, eight; Laborites, thirteen; Laborites, fourteen; Independents, two.

Among the women candidates on the Labor ticket was the Countess of Warwick, formerly known as one of the most beautiful women in England.

About fifty-six of the various candidates will be elected without opposition, thirty-eight Tories, ten Laborites, six Laborites and two others. Major Astor, a Tory candidate, has no opposition, nor has T. P. O'Connor, a Nationalist.

OFFERS U. S. DEFENSE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26.—F. H. Gillett of Massachusetts, speaker of the house of representatives, arose today in the defense of his colleagues as a result of the statement in London, by Ramsay MacDonald, leader of the British Labor party that "they have more corruption in Washington than in London and more in the house of representatives than in the House of Commons."

ESCAPE DEATH IN BIG ILLINOIS MINE EXPLOSION; PANIC FOLLOWS BLAST

Two Killed and Eight Injured, All Others Escape, Is Report; Thrilling Stories of Battle with Flames and Gas

BENTON, Ill., Nov. 26.—Two men are dead, eight more injured are in hospitals and all the others caught in an explosion of Chicago, Wilmington & Franklin Coal company mine No. 1 at Orient, near here, are accounted for, it was announced by rescue workers who returned this afternoon to the surface. The rescue volunteers reported that they had penetrated beyond the flames thought to have imprisoned additional miners, but had found no one.

The dead: I. B. Hamilton, West Frankfort; Harry Odle, West Frankfort.

The Orient mine normally employs 1100 men and is known as the largest mine of its kind in the world.

First reports that a great number of men were entombed were explained by officials who said that many of the panic stricken men failed upon emerging to get "fire checks," by which the company kept tab on workers going into and coming out of the shaft.

The rescue team reported that no one was left in the mine. They said the work of extinguishing flames was proceeding smoothly. They described the blast as one of a local nature, whose damage to the interior had not been great. It occurred two miles from the main shaft, 500 feet down, they said.

Hundreds of men and women gathered about the shaft of the mine silently waiting for news.

The injured men were severely burned. Many breathed with painful difficulty because of the smoke and black damp that surrounded them after the explosion.

Thrilling Escape

Men who escaped from the mine told astonishing tales of narrow escapes. One attributed his safety to his having torn a fragment from his coat, which, dipped in water in a dinner pail, he held to his nostrils while he groped, stumbled and plunged toward an opening. Others told of dragging less sturdy friends or relatives through the smoke and gas until their own strength failed.

Frantic women, with frightened and crying children clutching at their skirts, continued all afternoon to surround the mine, some hysterically seeking information, others staring dumbly before them. The pack was so dense that ropes were strung about the shaft's mouth, while guards were posted to drive back the curious.

Old World Enmities Blamed for Bombs

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 26.—Political factions in this country are responsible for the bombing of the Spanish and Italian consulates here Saturday.

This is the opinion of the police here today, after a forty-eight hour investigation, which pointed to the department of justice. Police see in the outrages the hand of the Third Internationale waving defiance at the Mussolini and Rivera governments of Italy and Spain.

Police are planning to further question John Hassey, taxi starter who reported one of six men carrying a suspicious looking package, had asked him the direction to Pine street, where the Spanish consulate is located, Friday night. While talking, the man dropped the package, Hassey said, and immediately went to his knees, crossed himself and quickly picked it up.

Injured Man Given Hospital Treatment

Lloyd Borkman, 776 South San Fernando road, suffered cuts on the face and contusions as the result of being hit by a car driven by Dave Roberts, of the Glendale Market, Sunday morning, at the corner of San Fernando road and Pacific avenue.

The ambulance from Kiefer & Eyerick was called and he was removed to the Glendale Hospital and Sanitarium, where it was stated his injuries were not serious.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26.—The supreme court of the United States today announced a Thanksgiving recess from Wednesday, November 28, to Monday, December 3.

INVITE BEARS TO PLAY AT PASADENA

Decision From U. C. to Be Made in Next Day or Two, Is Belief

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 26.—A formal invitation today was sent by the Tournament of Roses football committee to the University of California football eleven to play the Navy eleven at the Crown City on New Year's day.

Reports have been in circulation for some time that California had been tentatively asked to represent the west, contingent upon the outcome of the Stanford game last Saturday in the new Memorial stadium at Berkeley. Had the Bears lost to Stanford, all likelihood, Washington would have received the invitation.

Expect Decision Soon

Coach Andy Smith is expected to satisfy the California squad's desires to meet the Navy by giving his consent within the next twenty-four hours. Captain Don Nichols and the remainder of the Bears have expressed themselves on several occasions as being in favor of the game, and anxious for the opportunity to uphold the honors of the far west in the annual East vs. West classic.

Follow Romance Trail in Chicago Shooting

CHICAGO, Nov. 26.—A trail of romance revealing affairs with married women and including also a platonic friendship with a clergyman's daughter was followed by police today in their inquiry into the baffling death of Freeman Louis Tracy, skilled technician, shot to death in an automobile as it speeded through the University of Chicago campus early Sunday. Evidence of a bitter union labor dispute also was given some credence in sifting all possible evidence.

Considerable significance was attached to a letter from a married woman who wished to continue her correspondence with Tracy despite her marriage. Another note, whose author was not known, arranged a secret meeting in Evanston.

Tracy was educating himself to be an electrical engineer, though he had held excellent positions as an electrical expert. He matriculated at the University of Chicago last March, but discontinued his studies because of financial difficulties.

Plot to Kill Turkish Ruler and Wife Fails

SOFIA, Nov. 26.—An attempt was made at Angora to kill Mustafa Kemal Pasha, head of the Turkish nationalist government, and his young wife by placing poison in their food, according to a report printed here today. Both are said to be out of danger.

MAN FATALLY INJURED

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 26.—Emiliano Sanchez was probably fatally injured when he stepped in front of a moving switch engine in Ninth street. Sanchez suffered the loss of one leg and a great amount of blood.

Mrs. Marie McManus of 335 West Vine street spent Sunday visiting at the home of George P. Reuter of Santa Monica. Mr. Reuter is Mrs. McManus' brother. The Reuters were former Glendale residents.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Dick and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Penick and small son, Billy, 309 North Louise street, were dinner guests Saturday night at the home of Mr. Dick's brother, Will Dick of Los Angeles.

Miss Virginia Thom, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Thom, spent the past week-end at her home, 303 North Isabel street. She is attending the Marlborough School for Girls in Los Angeles, where she is in the junior year.

Clyde Smith of 244 North Isabel street motored to Elizabeth Lake over the past week-end, where he enjoyed several days of fine duck hunting. Nine elusive quail were brought back by Mr. Smith, who returned late Sunday night.

Robert Lindsay of 1017 East Palmer avenue, returned to his home late Sunday night from Berkeley, where he attended the California-Stanford game on Saturday. Mr. Lindsay is a student in the southern branch. The trip was made by auto in company of several fraternity brothers.

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Ewers and sons Donald and Merle, of Lincoln, Nebraska, are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Grimes of 580 West Stocker street. They made the trip west by motor and are planning to make this their home. Both Mr. and Mrs. Ewers are school teachers.

Mr. and Mrs. John F. Lahn of 1235 South Boynton street have as their guest Mr. Lahn's father, Fred Lahn of Belle Plaine, Iowa. Mr. Lahn, senior, is a prosperous farmer, but this first visit to California has already inspired the thought of disposing of his interests in the east and making Glendale his permanent home.

Dr. A. Ray Moore, field secretary of the Epworth league, was a visitor Sunday night at Casa Verdugo Methodist church at the Epworth meeting. He delivered a short address to the young people. Six new members were received into membership at this meeting, a series of special meetings.

Mrs. Arthur W. Glade and daughter, Miss Betty Glade, who are wintering in Berkeley, arrived in Glendale Saturday and will be guests for the week at the home of Mrs. Glade's sister, Miss Mary Dobson of 116 East Lomita avenue. Miss Betty is convalescing from a serious attack of influenza and bronchial pneumonia, which has necessitated her absence for some time from her studies in a private school which she had entered for the present term.

Juvenile Club

Activities of the Juvenile section of the Glendale Music club were enthusiastically carried on Saturday afternoon, where over twenty-five members were entertained at the home of Mrs. Mattison B. Jones on Kenneth road.

A program was given, pictures taken by Glenn Dolberg and refreshments served on the lawn under the trees.

The program included a piano number, "Amorita" (Homer Grum), by Margaret Brennan; piano number, "Spinning Song" (Elmer Reich), by Rita Schroeder; piano number, "Among Northern Pines" (Cushman), by Ida May Campbell; piano number, "Hungarian Dance" (Brahms), by Jane Thimm; vocal solo, "Kentucky Babe" (Grehel), by Katherine Henry; piano number, "From the Land of the Sky Blue Water" (Cushman), by Julia Pelley; dance, "El Capitán," by Eleanor Marek; piano number, "Curious Story" (Heller), by Cleone Barton; paper, "The Life of Bach" by Genevieve Marek; piano number, "Wild Rose" (MacDowell), by Vera Lockwood; reading, "The Three Little Chestnuts," by Phyllis Forester; piano number, "Alabama Cabin" (Cushman), by Eloise Knaus.

Mrs. Susie Peck, general chairman of the affair is well pleased with interest shown by the members and their many friends and is assured the affair tomorrow will be a huge success.

Informal Evening

Prominent among a number of delightful affairs which have been given successively to the Thanksgiving season was the informal social evening with which Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wilson entertained at their new home, 1444 East Maple avenue, Saturday night.

Graceful bouquets of pink carnations, hyacinths, daisies and greenery were used in decoration.

The evening was spent in playing games and dancing. At a late hour refreshments were served, consisting of cake and ice cream moulded to represent turkeys. Mrs. Wilson was assisted in serving by her mother, Mrs. Ada Johnson.

The guests included Miss Corinne Cross, Miss Dorothy Moorehead, Stanley Herdman and B. Smith of Los Angeles, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Miller of Burbank, Miss Christine Ferris, Bill Cross, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Crawford, Mr. and Mrs. M. Freeman, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Crandall, and Mr. and Mrs. H. Anderson.

Hostesses at Tea

Members of the Philathea class of the First Methodist church were hostesses at a tea given Saturday afternoon at the home of the class teacher, Mrs. Nelson K. Scripps, 130 1/2 North Kenwood street.

The affair had been arranged by the membership committee, of which Miss Nyda Dana is chairman, for the purpose of the older members becoming better acquainted with the large number of new members which have recently been taken into the class.

Miss Dana and her committee of eight, arranged for each call for eight new members at their homes and escort them to the home of Mrs. Scripps. In this manner part of the afternoon was spent in making calls on all new members, followed by an informal social afternoon.

The receiving committee included the hostess, Mrs. Scripps, Misses Lois Percy, president of the class; Marie Oliver and Nyda Dana. Tea was served during the afternoon by Mrs. Frank Butterfield, Misses Marie Oliver and Mabel Gilbert.

Surprise Affair

Mrs. Rebecca Hunter of 634 West Doran street was the honor guest Saturday at a delightfully appointed dinner party given by her daughter, Mrs. Blake L. Morgan at her home, 629 West Alexander street. The affair was given as a complete surprise to "Grandma Hunter" in the celebration of her 75th birthday anniversary.

Pink and white carnations and ferns were artistically used in decoration. The dinner table was centered with a beautiful bowl of pink and white sweetpeas and maidenhair fern. Festoons of pink and white tulle fastened to the chandelier above the dinner table added to the artistic decorations.

A delicious four-course dinner was served, including a birthday cake with seventy-five candles.

Covers were laid for the honor guest, Mrs. Rebecca Hunter, Mr. and Mrs. John Gimmel and daughters, Rebecca, Aileen and Harriet, Mr. and Mrs. Blake L. Morgan and daughter, Alice and Miss Winifred Hunter.

Birthday Dinner

Mrs. Robt. D. Jones of 322 East Dryden street entertained a number of persons at dinner Thursday night for her daughter Martha, who was celebrating her birthday.

Covers were laid for Genevieve Burr, Esther Haynes, Lorraine Masters, Lucile Bruner, Harry Mae Gaddis, Martha Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Jones. The evening was spent with games and music.

Two Birthdays

One of the parties which attracted much attention last week was the birthday party given Saturday afternoon by Mrs. E. Hitchcock in the celebration of the birthdays of her two daughters, Betty age 10 and Martha age 4, at their new home 1229 Glendale avenue.

The Thanksgiving and Christmas colors were artistically used in the decorations. Two birthday cakes, in red and white decorated with red candles and candles formed the centerpiece for the refreshment table. Each guest was presented with a cupping paper cap and other favors.

THANKSGIVING IS MILLIKAN'S THEME
Christians Should Praise God for Blessings Given During Past Year

In keeping with the spirit of Thanksgiving, Rev. L. J. Millikan, pastor of the Broadway Methodist church, preached an appropriate sermon yesterday morning. He took for his scripture text "What Shall I Render Unto the Lord for All His Benefits Toward Me?" He said in part:

"How becoming it is for a Christian nation at stated times, to stop and lift its head to Almighty God in humble thanksgiving for all His blessings and indulgences. It has been the custom of our nation for a long time to practice this habit every year. During the past year we have been the recipients of so many, many divinely given blessings, all of which call for thanksgiving, that it seems to me we are more than ever before obligated to thank Him on bended knee, and with our heads uplifted toward heaven, praise Him from the depths of our hearts."

"God has given us, as a nation, every blessing an unselfish man could ask for; our store-houses are abundantly filled; prosperity is all around us; we do not hear the roar of the cannon in cruel warfare, and we are at peace with all the world."

Beauties of Nature
"Another blessing for which we should give thanks is the beauty of nature on every hand. This is no more nor less than God's divine law in action, and all for the benefit of mankind. Oh, that men would open their eyes and behold nature's beauties! Paradise can be made to apply to all the earth. Some Christians are so inclined to exercise such little faith when the day of imaginary misfortune comes, they should remember the example of Elijah, whose faith in God caused even the birds of the air to feed him. So intent are some on borrowing trouble they are trying to starve to death in advance. We should be exceedingly grateful that God made us in His own image; put His divine stamp upon us; but, greatest of all, that He made man His partner for the uplift of fallen humanity. What an honor!"

"Our co-partnership with Jesus Christ will not, and cannot, be satisfactory to God unless we put Him first. No business man is really successful who does not put God first. Nor should we endeavor to deceive God; one of the most pitiful sights in all the world is a man trying to cover up his sins. Jesus Christ came into the world as a man. He conquered, and so can we. But if we would conquer we must render an exalted and an unselfish service. In no better way can we prove our gratitude to God for His limitless blessings and offer a true spirit of thanksgiving."

COALITION PLANS RATE REDUCTION

Farm and Progressive Solons
Will Launch Drive On Freight Charges

By WM. K. HUTCHINSON
For International News Service
WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—A senatorial drive to reduce railroad freight rates will be made by coalition of farm bloc and Progressive senators as soon as the new session gets under way, it has been learned.

While both groups—the farm bloc under Senator Capper, Republican, of Kansas, and the Progressives under Senator La Follette, Republican, of Wisconsin—plan extensive remedial legislation for farmers' ailments, lower freight rates will be the first objective.

Senator Frank R. Gooding, Republican, of Idaho, will present a bill providing for lower rates by direct action of congress, as soon as the senate convenes. Gooding's measure would place freight rates in the same category as taxes by placing a federal limit upon the charges to be made by any railroad for hauling freight while engaging in interstate commerce. It would be a unique method for obtaining the desired goal and undoubtedly will stir up serious opposition from conservative groups.

Calls On Coolidge
Gooding called at the White House and laid before President Coolidge the "sad, deplorable plight of the farmers of the northwest."

"Unless something is done immediately to assist the farmers of the country, particularly in the northwest, the major parties will be fighting for their very existence in 1924," Gooding told the president.

"The farm situation is deplorable. The farmers are tired of high sounding promises and want federal aid, and they want it quickly," he said.

At the same time, a dozen other measures will be introduced seeking to change the Esch-Cummings act, and possibly even repealing it entirely. Still other bills will provide for elimination of the railroad labor board, restoration of rate fixing powers to the interstate commerce commission and generally changing federal banks dealing with the railroads.

Blames Government

"The government is responsible for the present condition among farmers and particularly the wheat grower," said Senator Gooding, in explaining his proposed bill. "Whenever the government impairs the value of the property of a great body of its citizens, it is its duty to correct the wrong. I shall advocate empowering congress to reduce rates 33 1-3 per cent all down the line but favoring farm and livestock products. This is not radical legislation but the situation requires immediate and determined relief."

Gooding said he would also introduce a measure, authorizing the creation of a freight rate system based on mileage and his wheat stabilization for fixing wheat prices at $1.75 a bushel.

From the La Follette group came an endorsement of the radical proposal for forcing lower rates when Senator Ralph B. Howell, Republican, of Nebraska, announced he favored congressional action.

SAYS WOMEN ARE SLAVES TO STYLE

British Artist Mourns Over
Ugliness of World as Beauty Vanishes

By DAVID M. CHURCH
For International News Service
LONDON, Nov. 26.—Day by day this old world grows uglier and uglier—and woman is to blame.

This is the cheery view of C. R. W. Nevins, brilliant young British artist, who is certain that the world is much uglier now than it was 2000 years ago.

Nevins draws his text from modern tirades against immodest modern fashions.

"Modesty varies according to religion, climate and period, and it is not possible to establish a universal standard," said Nevins.

"This sounds like a defense of modern woman, but the female sex can't pat itself on its back until it has heard all of Nevins' views, because his is a double-edged sword."

"In these days, when individuality in dress does not exist, I do not know how it can be thought possible to pass judgment on a woman's character by looking at her clothes," the young artist continued.

Styles Mean Nothing
"How much greater is the error of thinking that the morality of a period is proved by the styles worn by those who live in it!"

"Modern dress does not reveal morality, but it is completely barbarous. No longer do women rely on taste, their only standard is that of value—not artistic value, which they are too vulgar to understand, but of value in terms of cash."

"Nowadays we have only the monotony of mediocrity that has resulted from the desire of millions of women to copy what they were told was 'the fashion,' instead of developing the art of expressing themselves. It is the herd instinct at its worst—the slavish adulation of materialism. The world is uglier than it was two thousand years ago, and we are

Sermon Excerpts And News Notes From Local Churches

ISAIAH'S ANSWER IS SERMON TOPIC

God Exalts Man to Plane of Co-operation in Divine
Plans, Says Pastor

"The call of God and the answer" was the theme of Dr. H. I. Rasmus yesterday at the First Methodist Episcopal church. The text was a part of Isaiah's vision, sixth chapter, eighth verse. "Also I heard the voice of the Lord saying, Whom shall I send and who will go for us? Then said I, Here am I, send me."

"This wonderfully descriptive account," said Dr. Rasmus, "out-classes any of the writings of Shakespeare. For his writings related to characters of this world only while Isaiah's relate to two worlds. Shakespeare's concern times of time, Isaiah's of both time and eternity. This is a most wonderful portrayal of the intimate relationship that exists between God and man. God calling for help from human kind. Whom shall I send and who will go for us—the word 'us' denoting the trinity in the Godhead."

"The question is asked, Can man help God? Does he need help? God exalts man to the high plane of co-operation in working out His divine plans. What waves its wand over the field and it blossoms into harvest; its wand over the orchards and they yield their golden fruit; the hillsides and they burst into beauty? The sunbeam!"

Ministers of God

"So men are ministers of God. Does God have a voice? Does He call our heart and mine? This is one of the vital truths of religion. The experimental side of the Christian religion answers in the affirmative. They can say with the Revelator, 'Great and marvelous are Thy works, Lord God Almighty.' Books also speak to the human heart. They say to me, 'Look into us and we will tell you of the secrets of science and nature; look into us and we will tell you the history of the human race.' 'Look into me,' says the Book of Books, 'and I will tell you who is back of all that is good and great.' It is the revelation of God to men. God speaks to the heart of all races."

The Inevitable Type

"The answer of Isaiah, 'Here am I, send me,' is the mark of the true messenger. They are of the inevitable type. These are the men that turn the world upside down, right side up. They hold the old world steady. Away back in early history God called and Moses answered. God called and the prophet Elijah answered; God called and John the Baptist answered and a nation stopped to wonder; God called and Paul, the mightiest missionary of all ages, answered; God called and Martin Luther, the monk, answered; God called and John Wesley, the Oxford student, answered and light came to a dead world; God called and womanhood, last at the cross and first at the tomb, answered, and the Woman's Home and Foreign Missionary societies commenced their marvelous work of labor and love."

"When God calls, respond to His call. Respond unreservedly. Christ commends the spirit of the widow who cast in her two mites. When Mary responded to her call and anointed Christ at the home of Simon the Leper, Christ said over the event, 'I will rear an imperishable monument and whenever the gospel is preached in the whole world this also shall be told, and it is as widely known as the historical facts of the Battle of Waterloo, the signing of Magna Charta, the Declaration of American Independence and the Armistice day.'

"God does not buy or barter with men to do their duty but is ever on the giving hand. Not a per cent but a hundred fold. As you cast your bread on the waters it will come some day back to you. As certain as God sits on His throne He will play true to you."

Temptation and Fall Explained by Brooks

The temptation and fall of man was the topic discussed by Keith L. Brooks at the Presbyterian Brotherhood class at the city hall Sunday morning. Mr. Brooks said, in part, Sunday morning:

"We take up today the study of one of the darkest days in the world's history, the day when sin entered the human race. Someone is ever asking, Might it not have been averted? It is of no use to reason, for sin is here. One may as well find fault with the nature of things as they are as with the Genesis record of how sin came. 'The Genesis account of sin is a complete vindication of God. He created man perfect and innocent. Desiring from man the trustful obedience of a child, not the enforced obedience of a slave. God gave him the power of choice, with a full warning of the consequence of a wrong choice. When a wrong choice was made, He gave his severest condemnation to the tempter, not the deluded victim."

"The enemy of man's soul still comes to him with the same old question, 'Hath God said?' Admit a question as to veracity of God and a contradiction of Him is sure to be the next step. When one is rid of what God has said he is in the field of pure speculation, and this is the sphere where the devil does most of his talking. 'When man had fallen, God came seeking him in his lost condition. The wonder of wonders is that God still desired man's presence. Satan's lie gave occasion for the display of the love of God. From this point on through to close of the Bible it is God seeking for unimpaired man. 'God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish but have everlasting life.'"

MARRIAGE FEAST KRINGLE'S TOPIC

Union of God and Man Made Plain In Parable of the King's Son

"The Great Marriage Feast" was taken as the theme for the sermon delivered by Rev. Henry O. Kringle at the Zion Lutheran church Sunday morning.

"We are today discussing the parable of the marriage of the king's son," said Rev. Kringle. "The king is no less than God Himself. The marriage is no less an event than the union of the Godhead and Manhood in Christ. The wedding feast comprises all the grace, mercy, righteousness, joy and delight which this union has brought upon man, and which which would have been eternally remained separated from God, dead in sin, a child of death and eternal damnation. Whosoever, therefore, makes light of this invitation loves darkness more than light, would rather amass dollars than accept God's grace; would rather toll under the curse of sin than live in the light of God's gracious 'confinement' in righteousness, would rather use his tongue to talk evil than to praise Christ, who was crucified. Can the fact that such people are not chosen, work despair in the heart of a Christian or indifference in the heart of any unbeliever? No, indeed."

"May God grant that we all rejoice to be clad in Jesus' blood and righteousness, and that, clad in it, we joyfully enter the festival hall and patiently await the appearance of the great King and his son Jesus Christ. For, if a man accepts Him in faith, there will be no trouble to find himself among the chosen."

Tells of Missionary Activity in Europe

Miss Margaret Taylor gave a five-minute talk on "Glimpses of the Field," Sunday at the morning service at Casa Verdugo church, touching upon the Methodist field work in countries of Europe, including Italy, France, Spain, Balkan States, Jugo-Slavia, Macedonia, Denmark, Norway, Sweden, Russia, Baltic and Mohammedan countries.

Special music included a soprano solo, "The Prayer Perfect" (Stinson) by Mrs. Walton; another, "King of Love," by the choir, women choir solo part by Miss G. Corderay, soprano by Mrs. R. D. Jones.

Hoosier Evangelist in Stirring Sermons

Growing interest is manifest at the Nazarene revival being held at the Brethren church, Rev. J. T. Hatfield, the "Hoosier Evangelist" from Indiana, gave two stirring messages Sunday and convinced his hearers of the need of an old-fashioned revival of religion.

The members of the congregation are looking for a banner week, and urge every citizen of Glendale to come and hear Rev. Hatfield, who enjoys a national reputation as a preacher of the Gospel.

Transfer of blood from one person to another is an effective treatment for at least twenty-eight specific maladies.

INGRATITUDE IS HIGHWAY TO SIN

Rev. Edmonds Draws Some Striking Lessons From Parable of Lepers

The morning service of the Glendale Presbyterian church was held in the Glendale Theatre with the pastor, Rev. W. E. Edmonds, preaching the sermon. The sermon theme was "A Mean Man" and was based on Luke 17:17. "Where are the nine?" The message was a Thanksgiving meditation. "The Prodigal Son was a mean man, an ingrate," said Rev. Edmonds, "in that he repaid kindness with enmity or accepted kindness without the courtesy of thanks."

"In this passage we have nine such men in a row. As Jesus was passing on to Jerusalem ten lepers stood afar off, crying to Him for mercy. He bade them go show themselves to the priest, and as they went they were cleansed. One turned back and in gratitude glorified God. The others failed to show any gratitude. The Master asks, 'Where were the nine?' The sin of ingratitude seems to be the most popular sin in the world. It usually consists in doing nothing. The offense of doing nothing is one of the worst crimes in the big black category of wrong doing. The sin of ingratitude is the broad highway to envy, malice and all uncharitable offenses. The cowardly denials of Peter and the base treachery of Judas are striking examples of this sin. One leper came back to own his gladness and thanksgiving. Where were the nine?"

Series of Miracles

"But who are we that we should be finding fault with these men? We believe in God. That goes without saying. 'In Him we live and move and have our being.' It is easy to say that and how difficult to live as if we believed it. The first breath you drew was God's breath breathed into your nostrils. But whence came the second, and the third and every breath from then till now? All is a gift from God."

"It would thus appear that life is not an automatic process. On the contrary it is an interrupted series of miracles. We remind ourselves that there is no motion or momentum without some sort of motive power behind it. That power is centered in a person, the Lord God Almighty. Admit that and where do you land? If every pulsation of our hearts is a result of Divine intervention, then by the recognized sanctions of honor or life, like the golden altar of incense, should be sending up an unceasing tribute of praise to Him from whom all blessings flow."

"But life is only the beginning of the bill of charges. Our living must also be included in it. You say, 'I make my living.' Whence come powers of mind and body behind it? We sit down to a table furnished by God, Himself. The water is provided by His gracious hand, the bread comes from Him. It takes miracles to satisfy our needs. Common courtesy demands that we say 'Thank you' to God. 'Where are the nine?'"

Life Is Immortal

"Pass to another item in the bill of charges. Think of immortality. We live forever. God created man. He did not evolve. God breathed into his nostrils and man became a living soul. Nothing can destroy that life. It is eternal. If you are glad to be immortal and if God is the author of immortality then you are under bond to thank Him. "Our meanness is due in most part to thoughtlessness. Think of the countless common things of civilization. They are by-products of the Gospel. Take Christianity out of Christendom and you have barbarism. You know this. What are you doing about it?"

Thanksgiving Service Program Announced

Thanksgiving day worship is to be held from 10 till 11 o'clock Thursday morning at the First Congregational church at North Central and Wilson avenues. This will be the annual union service arranged by the Glendale Ministerial association, of which Rev. J. H. Livingston, of the Casa Verdugo Methodist church, is president.

The order of service is announced as: Organ prelude, "Festival Prelude" (Parker); Miss Lilla Litch; hymn, "Faith of Our Fathers"; prayer, Rev. W. E. Edmonds of the Glendale Presbyterian church; quartet, "Sing Praise Unto God" (Schaefer); Mrs. W. C. Widdows, Mrs. Howard E. Cavanah, Howard E. Cavanah and Myron Carman; reading of President Coolidge's Thanksgiving proclamation, Rev. Ernest E. Ford of the First Baptist church; offertory, "Canzonetta" (Rockwell); Miss Litch; offering for Near East relief; Thanksgiving day address, Rev. C. A. Cole of the Central Christian church; singing of "America"; benediction, Rev. L. J. Millikan of the Broadway Methodist church; postlude, "Song of Gratitude" (Cole); Miss Litch.

Apartments terraced to give light and air to each room are being planned for Paris.

One living in the present only has nothing to look forward to.

ELOPED WITH TWO WOMEN, IS CLAIM

Double Divorce Suit Results From Alleged Perfidy of Syracuse Man

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Nov. 26.—Roland Winthrop Gladden, former assistant manager of a local restaurant, today is charged in two supreme court divorces with eloping with two Syracuse women at the same time, living with both and then fleeing with one to Canada.

In one action Gladden is sued by his wife, Mrs. Katherine Agnes Gladden, who namps Mrs. Ruth Lydia Davidson, one correspondent, and Miss Beulah Lewis, former counter girl in the restaurant, the other.

In the second suit Mrs. Davidson is named defendant by her husband, John T. Davidson, Jr., World War veteran.

It is charged that after Gladden left his wife he joined Mrs. Davidson, who had left her husband's home, and Miss Lewis, who lived with them, in an apartment in James street in September.

Mrs. Gladden asserts in her suit that Gladden was indiscreet with both women in the apartment, and that the evidence involving both women was secured at the time of a raid on the flat.

UNITED WORKMEN PICK CANDIDATES

Officers for Coming Year to Be Elected at Early Lodge Session

Nomination of officers to preside the coming year occupied the attention of the members of Glendale Lodge No. 2 of the Ancient Order of United Workmen at a meeting held at the K. P. hall Saturday night. The following names were submitted to the lodge:

Past Master Workman, Edward Holmes; Master Workman, Ernest D. Morgan; Foreman, Edwin Lamen; Overseer, Lewis F. Perkins; Recorder and Financier, Fred Nelson.

As there is only one nominee for each office, it is expected they will be elected at the next meeting by unanimous vote.

The members present were very enthusiastic over this get-together meeting, stated Mr. Holmes this morning, and showed a willingness to co-operate which cannot help but bring favorable results for the order in Glendale.

Plan Joint Meeting
Thursday evening, December 13, the Glendale lodge, together with several other neighboring lodges, will attend a joint meeting of the A. O. U. W. at 249 South Hill street, Los Angeles. Supreme Master Workman W. M. Narvis of Iowa will be present and make the principal address. There will also be initiation followed by an open meeting. Members are urged to bring their friends.

Valuing members at the meeting Saturday night were W. C. Bancroft of Massachusetts and Joe Stusak of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, who expect to settle permanently in this locality.

The members have adopted as their slogan, "Watch Glendale No. 2, A. O. U. W., Grow."

American Co-eds Are Serious, Says Oxonian

WELLESLEY, Mass., Nov. 26.—The American college girl is a serious-minded young person. She is democratic and a "plugger."

Take this from Professor Redvers Opie, who has just arrived from Oxford university to take charge of the department of economics at Wellesley.

"Educational standards are higher in America than I expected," says Professor Opie. "I thought the college girls would be mainly the daughters of the wealthy, who would consider college in a frivolous fashion. Instead, rich and poor mingle in democratic fashion, all approaching their studies with a surprising degree of serious attention."

"American college girls are eager to do their own work, with a small amount of direction from their professors. They are not afraid of spending their time digging for facts."

Honolulu Japanese Slain by Wild Boar

HONOLULU, Nov. 26.—Gashed deeply in the leg by a wild boar which he was hunting, Sheeburo Umazo, a section overseer of the Hawaiian Irrigation company, bled to death in the jungles above Waipio valley, island of Hawaii, while his companion went for help. Umazo's dogs attacked the boar in thick undergrowth, and as the boar emerged Umazo was directly in his path. Daybreak disclosed he had bled to death during the night, a large artery having been severed by the long tusks of the boar.

GLENDALE C. OF C. HOST AT DINNER

Thirteen Organizations From San Fernando Valley Will Meet Tuesday

unusually interesting program will be presented by the visitors. Mr. Sanders has issued special invitations to all members of the Glendale chamber to attend the meeting.

Urges Big Turnout
"As this is Glendale's meeting night for 1923—and another will not be held here until a year hence," said Mr. Sanders, "every member of the local body should respond to the occasion and welcome our visiting friends from the San Fernando valley."

The San Fernando Valley Associated Chambers of Commerce is made up of a membership in the following towns: Burbank, Chatsworth, Glendale, Lancaster, Mission Acres, Montrose, Owensmouth, Pacoima, San Fernando, Tujunga, Van Nuys, Zelzah and Reseda.

Several important announcements concerning the sewer bond election are to be made at the meeting tomorrow night, according to Mr. Sanders. Reservations for the dinner should be made today.

William J. Bryan says he would trade Governor Smith, of New York, for Governor Pinchot, of Pennsylvania. Or what have you?—Toledo (O.) Blade.

THEATRES

THE GLENDALE

In "Monna Vanna," Maurice Maeterlinck's immortal love drama, now showing at the Glendale Theatre, a William Fox picture, the same story of love, ages old, runs through a shock of contending ambitions and unrelenting passions.

In spite of the delicate action of many of his plays, which require unusual technical facilities to screen, Maeterlinck is unique in the success his dramas have had. "Princess Madeline," "Pelleas and Melisande," "The Blue Bird," "Mary Magdalene," "The Intruder," "The Betrothal," there are a whole host of successes to his credit.

And of these successes, "Monna Vanna" is one of the most outstanding. It was for years a great stage success, and now it bids fair to outrival on the screen all its earlier triumphs. It is a picture that once seen will never be forgotten.

THE GATEWAY

When Thomas Meighan's latest, George Ade-Paramount picture, "Woman-Proof," now showing at the Gateway Theatre, was made, seven thousand cases of dynamite were used in blasting a thirteen-mile tunnel at Huntington lake, California. Vera Reynolds, Bill Gonard and Mike Donlin. The picture is one of Paramount's "new policy" offerings and required six months of research before a scene was filmed.

Bring Home Load of Turkeys for Holidays

C. G. Clanin and family and H. Nicol and family motored to Delano Sunday and returned with a load of fine turkeys for Thanksgiving. They state the turkeys grown in Delano are splendid birds and most desirable for holiday dinners.

REGISTERS VOTERS

Mrs. Sindy Dell will register voters at the Security Trust and Savings Bank from 9 a. m. until 3 p. m. and at 828 North Louise street from 5 to 8 p. m. "If you have registered since January 1, 1922, and have not moved, you must not register again to vote in the sewer bond election on January 8, 1924. Mrs. Dell states, "but if you have not registered and have moved you must register before December 8, 1923, to vote on the sewer bonds."

PICKING TENNIS STARS HARD JOB

Female Court Champions Prove Difficult Problem for Net Dopesters

By GEORGE T. HOOK
For International News Service
NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—This is just about the time when the red-blooded and blue-blooded of the tennis world are losing sleep trying to figure out who will be named the female "Big Ten" of the 1923 tennis season. And not a little racket may obtain, when the National Tennis Association's ranking committee makes known its choice next month. In fact, the net result may be nothing short of a cataclysm, for those to whose counsel on the court sport ear is given are predicting that not one woman player in the 1922 "Big Ten" will occupy the same position after the ranking committee finishes juggling the balls of season showings.

Miss Willis First
No. 1, but naturally, should be Miss Helen Willis, of California, who showed the alley to Mrs. Molla Bjurstedt Mallory, a title holder in the national championship tourney. This feat alone, if time honored custom continues to be honored, entitles the "Native Daughter" to head the list.

Mrs. Mallory's achievements during the season were many and even included defeat of Miss Willis in the New York State championship tourney. Her foreign tour was fruitful, and, past and present considered, she rates second, according to the prognostications being volleyed by the experts.

Third place is being reserved for Miss Eleanor Goss, who exchanged defeat with both Miss Willis and Mrs. Mallory and played consistently good tennis throughout the season. The tall New York girl seems certain to be slated for No. 3.

From now on, comes the hair pulling, and work for the dentist. However, a consensus of expert opinion, assumes the following form:
No. 4—Miss Lillian Schaarman, of Brooklyn, winner of the Connecticut and New Jersey State titles, runner-up in the national clay court championship, and winner of the Narragansett Pier tournament.

No. 5—Miss Mayne MacDonald, of Seattle, who won the national clay court championship, gave a good account of herself in other contests and notably in taking five games from Mrs. Mallory in the national singles.

Next Five Hardest
The hairline decisions enter into the next five choices, but the dopesters give the ranking committee the following list to shoot at:
Mrs. Helen Gillean-Lockhorn, of New York, sixth place; Miss Edith Signourney, of Boston, at No. 7; Miss Leslie Bancroft, of Boston, eighth place; Miss Helen Hooker, of New York, ninth, and Miss Anne B. Townsend, of Philadelphia, tenth place.

Standard Equipment for Your Automobile

The "standard equipment" of a passenger automobile includes speedometer, ammeter, oil gauge, hand tire pump, horn, demountable rims, tools, spare rim and carrier and cord tires. Many manufacturers offer "additional equipment," such as power tire pump, theft lock, windshield wiper, cowl lights, front and rear bumpers, clock, heat indicator, spare wheel, disc wheels, wire wheels, car heater, snubbers and shock absorbers, spotlights, mirror, vanity or smoking set, sun visor, windshield wings, trunk or trunk rack, stop signal, etc.

Experts Tell Driver to Learn His Engine

It would be unnecessary to place so much reliance upon the brakes if drivers would learn how to use the engine for deceleration. When it is apparent that a stop must be made—and there is time to think of economizing on brake lining—disengage the clutch, close the throttle to the idling position, and then re-engage the clutch. The engine's compression will reduce the speed of the car about five miles an hour. If there is time to repeat the process, it is obvious that the brakes will have less work to do.

was staged on September 3, 1906, and Gans and Nelson fought their famous forty-one-round battle, which netted Tex a $69,715 "gate" and a net profit of $36,215.

Tex was off to a good start, but had difficulty in matching fighters until 1910, when, under his financial guidance, Jefferies and Jack Johnson met in Reno, and increased his private exchequer with a cool $150,000.

"Battle of Century"
Since then Tex has promoted fight after fight, reaching the climax of his unfinished career with the Dempsey-Carpentier "battle of the century" at Boyle's Thirty Acres, in Jersey City. The battle magnetized receipts which totaled $1,626,580, of which Tex retained possession of something like $800,000 and paid out about $435,000 for construction of the world's greatest arena.

The Dempsey-Firpo swiftest was his other promotion, which topped the million-dollar mark. And of all the bouts he has staged, only two or three have been recorded as financial failures. The most noteworthy was the Johnny Wilson-Bryan Downey fizzle, at the Boyle Acreage. The total of "over charge" was so stunted, that Tex, in a manner paring famous, dug deep into his pocket, and fished out $60,000 to let the world know he was as good a loser as he was a winner.

The Truth As to The Widening of Central Avenue!

Total frontage to be widened is 12,567 feet.
9761 is over 100 feet in depth.
2042 feet is over fifty, but under 100 feet in depth.
764 feet is under 50 feet in depth.

Practically the entire opposition to this NECESSARY improvement comes from those property owners whose lots are less than fifty feet in depth. Because of the necessity of this improvement it will undoubtedly be forced through inside of three years, at the latest.

But then, at the present rate of increase, the property owners may be assessed two or three times what the widening would cost, if the ordinance is passed at once.

For property owners cannot be compelled to set back the fronts of big buildings now planned, and after these buildings are erected, the setting back expense is assessed on the frontage owners of the entire street.

At the last council meeting at which this matter was discussed, a delegation of property owners protested at the prohibition of diagonal parking on one side of Broadway, between Brand and Central Avenue, because of the injury such a rule did to the trade of their tenants.

But the city authorities were forced to make this rule because of the crowded condition of Broadway between Brand and Central Avenue. And in some sections Central Avenue will soon be, if it is not already as crowded as Broadway.

And the state of California is insisting that in all new towns, the streets must be 100 feet wide.

A regrettable feature of the opposition to this improvement that would so greatly increase values at once is that the opposition comes almost entirely from those owners of short depth lots, who are not posted as to the very just provisions of the law, which fully protects them.

For the law expressly provides that the compensation for short depth property is to be in accordance with the amount of damage done to that property as an income producer.

For instance, were an oil station located on a forty-foot depth lot, and ten feet off from this lot would make it unsuitable for an oil station, the owner would be compensated accordingly. Even though the sudden increase in value of frontage, as soon as the widening was completed (as in Los Feliz road) was beyond all expectations.

The tendency of every city government today is to widen streets, whether or not the property owners wish it to be done. For room must be made for the automobile parking and traffic. Merchants demand wider streets to accommodate the automobiles that bring trade to their doors. They will not pay high rents on streets where parking is prohibited. Rental values mean ground values. And if Central Avenue won't widen, other streets will, and merchants will have their stores there.

Los Feliz Road, before it was widened, was seldom spoken of. Today values there are three hundred per cent higher than before the street was widened, not much more than a year ago. And because of the parking conditions that the widening of San Fernando Road will bring, this section of Glendale will be the theatrical Mecca of the country for miles around. The all-night drug store being built on the N. W. corner of Central and Los Feliz will be the first star in Glendale's Great White Way, for the traffic conditions in Los Angeles are forcing the building of big theaters on Los Feliz Road. Properly widened, Central Avenue will be the wonder street of Southern California.

Ask any owner of property on Los Feliz Road, no matter how short in depth his lot is, to sell you his frontage at less than two hundred per cent of what it was worth before the widening of that street, and he will laugh at you.

An Offer to Timid Property Owners!

If you have no confidence in the laws of this state, which were especially designed to protect every property owner, no matter how short in depth his lot is, bring us a description of your property NOW. Put a price on it, or a price on an option on it, before the widening is done, and if your price is right, we will try and take over your holdings, or find someone to do so.

Remember, under the law, the assessment would not be levied for two years, because of the crowded conditions of the courts, and after the assessment is levied, you have ten years in which to pay.

Values of Central Avenue frontage should increase from the day the final decision of the council to widen is announced, even more than in Los Feliz Road.

That's All

Ten Years Ago—And Now.
What Changes Time Makes!
Standardization Great Need.
What Others Have to Say.

By Gil A. Cowan

Strange things come to pass in the brief span of ten years. Indeed, a month makes history in this vicinity with new announcements daily regarding real estate and development.

Ten years ago Glendale was an important citrus shipping center. Down along the Los Angeles river about half of the green vegetables were raised for the Los Angeles market basket.

Now all of this is changed. A few cars of oranges and lemons may be shipped out this season by the Ross packing plant on Glendale avenue. Only private gardens flourish at the rear of pretty little homes in the Los Angeles river bottoms south and west of the Southern Pacific tracks.

Los Angeles is now importing vegetables from the San Francisco market! Richest county in the world. Finest climate in America! And no longer self-supporting in the matter of green goods, produce men decry.

But this very fact is developing the San Joaquin, Sacramento, Imperial and Coachella valleys, not to mention San Diego and Ventura counties.

And automobile trucks are bringing the market just as close as the old horse-drawn vegetable peddlers' carts of ten years ago. Evolution certainly is doing her stuff, as C. C. Julian might write, in Southern California.

Standardization is the great need of today. Just as the motor car industry has been standardized, so must other great lines of business try to see the light of a new era in production.

News papers have been standardized in size, with few exceptions, and their news services, features and methods of production are very similar.

But more than any other one thing in need of standardization at this time is hotel and restaurant service. We expect to see the day when all hotels will be operated largely on certain scales—just as many of the finest hostlers have found it profitable and proper. And while we do not relish the food sometimes served at certain restaurants operated under chain management, we do honestly believe that restaurateurs, here and elsewhere, would do well to organize and standardize their service. They would find it much to their advantage.

Others' views on various topics are sometimes in accord with our own thoughts. Sometimes they are diverse, but reveal the reflection of others in their daily life. We select at random the following editorial paragraphs:

The Bavarian Revolution played a one-night engagement.—Redding Searchlight.

If silence is really golden, Mr. Coolidge is firmly fixed on a gold basis.—Red Bluff News.

A lot of Willows people who will masquerade Wednesday night with pumpkins over their heads will be more appropriately dressed than they realize.—Willows Journal.

The foolish little banana song is said actually to have increased the sale of the elongated yellow fruit. Wonder if it can sing louder than the new tariff, which has run up the price?—Stockton Record.

Our idea of a real man is one who is just as polite to the janitor as to the bank president.—Woodland Mail.

Europe may have a finer culture, but she hasn't our degree of flivverization.—Chico Record.

"Keep Smiling," advises Charles M. Schwab. All right Charley. But, if you want us to laugh right out loud, pass us one of those U. S. Steel dividends that make you grin.—Sacramento Star.

Up pops Los Angeles with another story of battle fleet gun practice causing the recent earthquake in that city. As the city is twenty-five miles from its water front, and a fleet goes fifty miles to sea for gun practice, we do not see how that could be.—Hanford Sentinel.

A 10 year old girl in New York is reported to be writing song hits. Another year or two of education will doubtless ruin her for ever for a career in that field.—Marysville Democrat.

The word "Charity" was never created as a synonym for almsgiving. Almsgiving degrades the beggar and the giver, but charity only beautifies. The poor do not need alms. Poverty is a disease, and it is to be cured by work and education.—Colfax Record.

This Football "Pop" Entitled to Monicker

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Nov. 26.—STAT COLLEGE, Pa., Nov. 26.—has someone who is nicknamed "Pop," but it is seldom the designation falls on a man who is the father of four children.

Tom Ellwood, a lineman on the university football team, really merits the title. Ellwood is only twenty-three, but he is the proud father of four husky youngsters, and runs a farm three miles from the campus, in addition to his duties as a student, and member of the football squad.

Called "stainless silver," a new tarnish resisting alloy has been discovered by a Sheffield, England, firm.

Southern California

Pick Parade Leader

PASADENA, Nov. 26.—The Tournament of Roses parade to be held here on New Year's day will be headed by Col. George S. Parker as grand marshal. Plans are now under way to start the New Year in Pasadena with the greatest exposition in the history of the city. Probably the biggest attraction of the day will be the annual East-West football game. It is expected that the Navy will represent the East and California the West.

Load Oil at Pier

SANTA ANA, Nov. 26.—Use of the Municipal pier at Newport Beach will be allowed oil companies for loading oil tankers and the laying of an oil pipe line through the city streets from the Huntington Beach oil fields, as a result of an election held in that city.

The vote favoring the pipe line and pier lease was 335 and 244 against. Opposition to the proposed lease centered around the question of whether the introduction of the pipe line and the loading of the oil tankers would result in a heavy coating of oil on the beach, spoiling it for bathing purposes.

New Planing Mill

ANAHEIM, Nov. 26.—A new planing mill is soon to rise in Anaheim, permit for the structure having been issued by City Building Inspector J. W. Price to the Gibson Lumber company, 703 East Broadway. Equipment of the mill will include a planer, rip and trim saw and joiner. The lumber company will be able to handle all its own finishing work with this added equipment, officials say.

Plan Annexation

SANTA ANA, Nov. 26.—Considerable interest has developed in Santa Ana and Orange county over the report that Long Beach is making plans to extend its corporate limits by annexing territory in Orange county at an election to be held in the beach city in December. By including a "shoestring" strip in the territory to be annexed, an area of more than 100 square miles north of Long Beach and not included in previous plans, will be preserved to that city for annexation, beach city engineers claim, and will prevent further plans for possible annexation to Los Angeles.

Hawaiians to Play

POMONA, Nov. 26.—Headed by Coach Otto Klum, nineteen University of Hawaii football players are in Claremont preparatory to playing Pomona college at Pasadena Thanksgiving day. During their ten-days' stay here, the visitors will make their headquarters at Claremont. Coach Klum declares that his team is in excellent condition after making the 3500-mile trip from the islands.

Plan Bus Lines

PASADENA, Nov. 26.—Plans for an interurban motor bus line to connect with towns in the foothill area to the northwest of this city are being completed by the Pacific Electric company, according to application made to the state railroad commission to lease operating rights under the name of the Flintridge Motor company. This will be the first venture of the Pacific Electric in bus transportation between towns. The plans call for the buses to travel directly to Flintridge via Linda Vista and Devil's Gate and the highway toward Sunland and San Fernando. The western terminal will be near Montrose, where the highway turns south to Glendale. La Canada and Flintridge will be the towns linked to Pasadena by the new interurban motor buses.

Salary Boost Fails

SAN DIEGO, Nov. 26.—Efforts of Mayor Bacon to revise and raise city salaries failed of fruition when reviewed by the City Council in the mayor's office. It was contended by the councilmen that an increase in salaries could not be made without making it general among city employees. Not all are deserving of a boost in salary, it was pointed out, thus defeating the measure in toto.

Baptists Will Meet

LONG BEACH, Nov. 26.—Final arrangements for the fourth annual convention of southern California organization of the Baptist Young People's Union, to be held here November 30 to December 2, inclusive, are being made by the various societies of the local organization. At least 1000 delegates are expected from many cities in southern California, and elaborate entertainment plans are now under way. The general theme of the convention is to be "Christ's challenge to the Young People of Today."

Give Away Plants

PASADENA, Nov. 26.—In an effort to keep this city above the average in the appearance of its streets and lawns, members of the Horticultural society are making plans for distributing free to residents large quantities of stock flowers, poppies, gold flowering plants and other varieties, upon the promise that they will take an active interest in beautifying the city.

This plan is in keeping with the golden jubilee celebration of 1921, and the blue and gold color scheme is to be carried out during the entire year.

Assistant Manager

PASADENA, Nov. 26.—Plans are being considered by the board of city directors for the creation of the office of assistant city manager, due to the rapidly increasing number of municipal activities.

SPORT CARNIVAL AT SAN ANTONIO

Winter Program Covers Every Kind of Outdoor Event; Big Purse

By JACK O'BRIEN
For International News Service
SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Nov. 26.—One of the most extensive winter sport programs ever attempted by any city claiming to be a winter playground will be carried out by this historic and romantic city between now and next Spring. Baseball will be played throughout the winter, polo tournaments, open golf championships for the largest purse—$6,000—ever offered in golfdom, automobile and motorcycle racing—in fact every outdoor activity will be included in the program of events which will entertain not alone the natives but the thousands of visitors who come here each year.

San Antonio claims to be second to none so far as polo is concerned largely because the majority of the army's cavalry regiments are stationed in the Southwest. Colonel Dan Tompkins, formerly the leading polo spirit at Fort Riley, Kansas, has charge of the army polo activities for the corps area, and he has combined his efforts with those of Jack Lapham, nationally known as a poloist; William Meadows and Richard Negley. Numerous civilian polo teams, especially from Kansas City and St. Louis, will be invited to come here to take part in a series of tournaments which will be staged in December, January, February and March.

In addition to weekly tournaments on the golf courses for local and visiting players, the next Texas Open Golf championship, which has now become the biggest fixture in the golfing world so far as large purses are concerned, will be staged February 14, 15 and 16, 1924. This tournament will be the opening gun of the winter campaign of the migratory golfer who seeks the Southland at a time when the snowbirds are holding conventions on the Northern courses.

The question of who will win the next Texas Open is a mooted question, due to the class and speed of the field. Since Jack Hutchison is going to the Bahamas it is doubtful if he will battle for the Texas crown and coin. He is about the only one of the "leading ten" who is not entered in San Antonio's classic.

$15,000 in Prizes

There will be about six or seven tournaments held in Texas during the "dead of winter"—the purse value will be approximately $15,000—after which the migratory linkmen will trek their way to Louisiana, Alabama and Georgia.

There is a movement on foot now to bring De Palma, Murphy, Hearne, Vail and numerous other auto-racer stars here to compete during Christmas week on the two-mile, speedway oval. The record for this track so far is 108 miles an hour.

In addition to these sports, numerous field trials for bird dogs and wolfhounds, are already arranged for the latter part of November and during December.

It is planned also to have a water carnival in the Municipal Pool during Christmas week.

STAGE BIRTHDAY PARTY AT LODGE

Masons Are Hosts to Members as First Anniversary Celebration Fete

Celebration of the first anniversary of the Glendale Lodge No. 544, F. & A. M., took the form of a jolly informal party Saturday night at the Masoale temple on South Brand boulevard. Members of all the local Masonic organizations and their families were invited for the birthday party, and over 250 persons enjoyed the program and dance that followed.

Artists appearing on the program were furnished by Keamoku A. Louis, and their entertainment was greatly enjoyed. The program included "Melodies of Old Hawaii," by Hawaiian Trio; character songs, La Pine and Emery; Samoan love songs by Marjorie Adams, soprano; "Aloha Oe," by Hawaiian Trio; "A Small Town Wise-cracker," by St. Johns, comedian; "Etude in D Flat" (Liszt), by Mildred Pray; "Musetta's Waltz," from "La Boheme," by Nadine White; "Because," by W. J. Hodge; selected numbers by Keamoku A. Louis. Officers of Lodge No. 544 are: John S. Cleeland, master; Charles J. Wolfe, senior warden; Wallace T. Hodge, junior warden; George T. Harness, treasurer; Albion B. Woodside, secretary; Alfred R. Ireland, chaplain; Monte C. Brucker, senior deacon; George W. Mishler, junior deacon; Paul E. Maxwell, marshal; R. G. Montayne, senior steward; Henry J. Miller, junior steward; Riley Lyons, tyler.

Build Four Planes

SANTA MONICA, Nov. 26.—Construction of four planes to be used by the army in an around-the-world cruise, which will start next spring, was begun by the Douglas company this week. Five planes will participate in this pioneering flight. The first ship was completed five weeks ago and flown to Dayton, Ohio, and other eastern points, for test flights. Interchangeable landing gears for land and water will be part of the equipment of each plane.

BATTLE LINE IN CONGRESS DRAWN

Progressive Strategy to Be Outlined at Meeting Next Week

By A. O. HAYWARD
For International News Service
WASHINGTON, Nov. 26.—The strategic plans of the Progressive group in the house of representatives for their forthcoming fight with the regular Republican organization will be drawn up at a conference to be held here next week in advance of the Republican caucus, scheduled for December 1, it is learned.

Discussing the plans of the Progressives today, Representative John M. Nelson of Wisconsin confirmed the reports that the organization of the house will be blocked until concessions have been made to the Progressives through support of Representative Henry Allen Cooper of Wisconsin for speaker. This is expected to prevent Speaker Gillett from getting a majority vote of the house members necessary for his re-election.

Want Rules Changed

The Progressives demand changes in house rules to allow votes on passage of all legislation reported from committees, and representation by the Progressives on all important legislative committees.

The Progressives believe it will be possible for them, acting in accord with either the Republican or the Democratic membership of the committee, to force from the committee bills in which they are particularly interested. It was learned at the White House today that President Coolidge does not want to take a hand in the fight between William J. Graham of Illinois and Nicholas Longworth of Ohio, over the Republican leadership of the house.

CITY ZOO STIRS FIERCE RIVALRY

Nature Fakery in Acrimono-ous Debate Over Diet for Glendale 'Possum

By RALPH A. LYND
The interest that followed the announcement of the acquisition of a 'possum and six guinea pigs by Park Superintendent Sam Warren and the establishment of these animals in their new homes at Patterson avenue park, is manifesting itself in many quarters where a love of natural history and a knowledge of animals have hitherto been totally unsuspected, and already the tentative plans that have been formed to acquire a city zoo threaten to develop into one of the live issues facing the people of Glendale.

City Manager W. H. Reeves, who tried, unsuccessfully, to find out whether a guinea pig's eyes would drop out if the animal were lifted by its tail, has received an anonymous letter bitterly criticizing him for his lack of accurate information regarding these animals, the writer concluding his remarks with the statement that "the man that don't know that a guinea pig ain't got no tail don't know nothing."

Offer Side-hill Hodag
An offer has been submitted by the Verdugo Wash Nature Study, Literary and Crap Shooting Association, tendering to the city zoo a specimen of the Side-hill Hodag, captured, the letter says, in the wilds of northern New Mexico, where its haunts are among the conical shaped mountains of Rio Arriba county. The impediment in the way of acceptance of this rare animal is that Patterson avenue park is entirely flat, and the Side-hill Hodag requires a conical mountain as the first requisite of its existence.

The animal, it is stated, follows a circular path around the mountain, and thus it develops the legs on one side to a greater length than those on the other side, due to its having to walk on ground that tilts at a steep angle, and if it is scared, as it frequently is by its cowboy captors, and is compelled to reverse its action, it finds it impossible to run with the short legs on the down hill side. The result is that it tumbles to the bottom of the canyon and usually starves to death before anyone comes along and hoists it back on its feet and points it in the right direction.

The question of the diet suitable for the Patterson park 'possum is arousing many contradictory opinions among local nature fakery, some contending that the animal belongs to the family of carnivora, while others insist just as stoutly that a 'possum is herbivorous, and that its main sustenance should consist of garden truck instead of raw meat, as is urged by the persons in the first-mentioned group. A decision on this point will be sought from some court of competent jurisdiction, preferably on a change of venue to Burbank or Watts, as it is agreed by the parties to the discussion that a fair and impartial verdict could not be secured in Glendale, where the matter is rapidly assuming the proportions of a real, old-fashioned feud that is drawing otherwise staid and well balanced jurists into its sphere of influence, or words to that effect.

Ellis Parker Butler, who first discovered and classified guinea pigs in his immortal brochure, "Pigs is Pigs," is to be invited guinea pigs, the receipts from the lecture to be invested as a permanent fund, the interest from which will be used to enlarge the cages of the animals at regularly stated intervals.

GLENDALE SPIRIT INSPIRES BOOST

Poetess Chants Praise of Fastest Growing City
In Rousing Verse

Moved by the rapid growth of Glendale and inspired with the "boost" idea, the following song is submitted by a newcomer. The tune is that of the "Battle Hymn of the Republic," by Julia Ward Howe.

WORDS BY MINNIE KATE STODDARD

We have come out here to Glendale,
For we know it's growing fast,
We are here to boost the city,
For we know the growth will last;
We have journeyed 'cross the country,
All the other cities past;
And we're boosting for Glendale.

CHORUS
Glendale! Glendale! is the city,
Glendale! Glendale! is the city,
Glendale! Glendale! is the city,
For a hundred thousand strong.

We are boosting for our city;
In the good, old-fashioned way,
We have brought along our baggage
As we do intend to stay.
We have visions for the future,
Of this "fastest growing town";
As we go marching on.

CHORUS

German Progress Puzzles Kirk In Face of Rapid Change In Mark's Value

More of Germany is pictured for Glendaleans in the W. B. Kirk travel letter today. In his last letter Mr. Kirk told of the low value of the German mark and in the letter herewith printed he continues his word panorama of the country and description of the fall of the mark, which he declares has "dropped very mark-edly."

He writes: "Nuremberg, Bavaria, October 26. I suppose you are having 'wars and rumors of wars' in Germany, reported in your papers day by day, and are imagining that we are meeting with all sorts of difficulties, if not real dangers, but such is not the case. We are having unpleasantness, because the average American likes a square deal, and we don't get it, so it is disagreeable.

"This situation in Germany 'gets my goat.' I am trying to understand it but it is a hard job. If you could be set down in one of these German cities such as we have been in and are now in, not knowing about conditions, you wouldn't know from appearances, the people in the streets and at the hotels, the traffic and window displays, etc., that things are not normal. Such an anomalous situation I suppose never before existed. You have to get under the surface to realize the true conditions.

Wordless Currency
"Here is a people doing business on a currency that they know has not a particle of value either intrinsically or governmentally, and yet they are getting along, somehow. We can get a two day old Paris paper (New York Herald or Chicago Tribune) that tells what is really taking place, otherwise we wouldn't know anything about it.

"My little knowledge of German is very useful and valuable in getting about, but it is so limited that I can get very little out of their papers. Inquiry of porters or others, who know both languages, elicits only 'nothing new, just a little trouble in the Rheinland or Saxony.'

"That's about all you get out of them. If you suggest that the solidarity of the country is seriously threatened they shrug their shoulders and say, 'Oh, no! better next year!' Nobody seems anxious, nervous or disturbed, so suppose they have gone through so much that nothing fazes them. Yet they know that their financial condition is chaotic and their political status critical. They seem prepared for anything and don't care much what happens.

Trouble Elsewhere
"When we were in Baden and everything was quiet there we heard of trouble in Bavaria and were almost afraid to come here but we have heard of not a particle of disturbance since we have been here. Now we hear of troubles in Saxony and of 60,000 troops having been dispatched to various cities and towns there, but we expect to go to Leipzig from here and to Dresden from Berlin, and have no fears.

"To travel through the country with trains on time and well loaded, to see the farmers doing their fall plowing with oxen, to land at hotels and see people enjoying their afternoon beer, wine or coffee, to the accompaniment of an orchestra, you would think everybody was happy. We are bowed into the office with an army of porters, door boys, elevator hops and clerks as if we were royalty. I have told you of the rates we paid at some of the hotels.

"Since we have been in the country the mark has dropped very 'mark-edly,' but they have been pushing up their prices out of all proportion to its fall. They have a price unit for their menus and regulate the prices by a 'multiplikator' as they call it.

"At Heidelberg, the multiplikator was '2 milliarden' and if an omelette was priced at 1.25 (fictitious gold mark), and the mark was worth 10 to the dollar, they received 25 cents for the omelette. At Stuttgart the mark had fallen to about 40 milliard to the dollar and they had raised the multiplikator to only 4 milliard, so we had very reasonable prices, but the hotels then concertedly began to increase their multiplikator daily, so that at Munich on Wednesday evening it was 4 milliard, on Thursday it was 8, on Friday 12, on Saturday 14.

Mark Keeps Falling
"In the meantime the mark had fallen only from 40 to 60. For our rooms in Munich we paid 80 on Wednesday, 120 on Thursday and 160 on Friday. With the increased taxi, tips etc., they figured out a total of over 600.

"Of course it was still cheap, but you don't like the principle, especially when you know that you are being charged double or more, than their own people are paying.

"On the train I was talking with two German traveling salesmen, and when I showed them my bill they had to laugh over it. They all realize the value of the 'dollar,' as they call it, and when you pay them in our money you can see the glimmer of satisfaction in their eyes, not only because they know it is real money and if they hold it a few days it will probably be worth twice as much, but because they can hoodoo the government out of the 80 per cent tax they have to put up, if it is paid in marks.

"Of course we have to use marks in most places, and it is impossible to get full value. On Friday, when the German papers quoted the dollar at 100 milliard in New York, Berlin and Munich only paid 62 and when you buy them the banks deduct 3 or 4 per cent for tax. It is impossible to guess right as to the quantity of

NEXT PERIOD OF CAMPAIGN OPENS

Race for Grand Prize Now
Enters Crucial Stage
for Contestants

By J. A. MALCOLM
Salesmanship Club Manager
The first period of The Glendale Evening News $10,500 Salesmanship Campaign closed last Saturday night, and great was the closing. Subscriptions poured in from every part of the country, and hundreds of thousands of credits were issued to the various club members. While some of the club members benefited more than others, yet there is a closeness that offers any one of those who are in the race, an opportunity to win any one of the grand capital prizes.

It is a strange coincidence, something very unusual in affairs of this kind, but several of the leading club members benefited so equally during the period just closed, that without hair line figures out just who would have won the grand capital prize, if the campaign had closed last Saturday night, instead of December 20. It seems that this campaign is going to be a close one throughout the time it is running, and any one of a number of the leading club members may jump into the lead during the second period and secure enough credits to make sure of the $2250 building lot in Sparr heights.

The race for supremacy is growing warmer every day, and with the end of the campaign a trifle more than three weeks away, intense efforts from everyone of the leading club members is expected. And that is as it should be, for it is better to be safe than sorry, and we can truthfully say at this time, a few clubs of subscriptions would spell victory for them where they now face defeat.

Second Period Important
The second period of the campaign is just as important as the first one, and even though you made a big showing during the first period, you cannot rest on your past efforts, but you will have to start right out and work harder than ever before. Remember that the others in the campaign are working with might and main to get every available subscription and they are not going to rest a single minute until the campaign has been officially closed on Thursday night, December 20.

The leaders today may not be the final winners, for a great deal depends upon what they do during the coming three weeks, and this second period is going to determine, to a great extent, just how each of the club members are going to stand when the final counting has been made. Do not let up for a single minute; do not overlook a single opportunity to better your chances to win one of the big prizes and above all do not wait to collect the subscriptions that have been promised, but get them as early as possible.

SUNSET CLUB TO HONOR MEMBER

Mrs. Zilpha A. Parker's
Friends to Celebrate Her
88th Birthday

The Glendale Evening News Sunset club members are to be special guests tomorrow at the informal celebration of the eighty-eighth birthday of Mrs. Zilpha A. Parker, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. B. O. Holbrook, at 426 West Harvard street.

It will be an informal at home, from 2:30 until 5 o'clock, during which time Mrs. Parker is going to be happy to receive her friends. In addition to her active interest in The Glendale Evening News Sunset club, Mrs. Parker is an active member of the Women's Relief Corps and the Central Christian church, and members of these organizations are also wishing a happy birthday to tomorrow.

Mrs. Parker's maiden name was Zilpha A. Franham. She was born November 27, 1825 in Oswego, N. Y., where she lived for many years. She was married in Syracuse, N. Y., to Orlando Parker, who served as a captain in the Marine corps during the Civil War. Later he was employed by the Goodrich Transportation company on the Great Lakes, and the family lived in Michigan.

Captain and Mrs. Parker had four children, three of whom are living. Mrs. Mary E. Merrill, of Los Angeles; Edward E. Parker, of Burlington, Wash., and Mrs. B. O. Holbrook, of Glendale. Mrs. Parker now has one grand-daughter, Mrs. Mark Smith, of Mt. Vernon, Wash., and a great grand-daughter, Barbara Mae Smith of Mt. Vernon.

LURE TO BURBANK

SANTA ROSA, Cal., Nov. 26.—If the Lakeland chamber of commerce, Lakeland, Fla., has its way California will lose Luther Burbank, plant wizard. Lakeland has formally offered Burbank 200 acres of Pope county, Florida, choicest land, a fine home and all buildings necessary to carry on his plant experimental work if he will transfer his activities to the southern state. Burbank, however, does not plan to move.

"COMING EVENTS CAST THEIR SHADOWS BEFORE"

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 26.—Governor Richardson has issued the following proclamation calling upon all Californians to observe Thanksgiving day Thursday, November 29:

"In accordance with custom and the proclamation of the President of the United States, I, Friend W. Richardson, governor of the State of California, do hereby declare Thursday, the twenty-ninth day of November, 1923, a legal holiday, and day of thanksgiving, so that the people of the state may thank the Supreme Ruler of the universe for His many blessings, and particularly the great blessings of our government, the form and ideals of which insure peace, order and justice, and give every person the right of freedom of speech and freedom of thought to a degree unequalled at any time or in any country in the history of the world."

CLUB PRESIDENT ISSUES MESSAGE

Dr. Jessie A. Russell Asks
Support of Members in Coming Year's Work

In assuming the duties of president of the Business and Professional Women's club, Dr. Jessie A. Russell, newly elected president, has issued an inspiring personal message to every club member. This message accompanied the announcements of the meeting for tomorrow night, at 7:30 o'clock in the auditorium of the Glendale commercial school, 224 1/2 South Brand boulevard.

Dr. Russell's message is: "This club should fill a real need in the life of a business or professional woman. A spirit of comradeship between the members should be developed and maintained, where each member could have a personal friendship and confidence in other members.

"The office of president of this club is a difficult one to fill under ordinary circumstances, but doubly so when accepting the position under existing conditions, with the best part of the year for planning and outlining work gone.

Believes in Club's Aims
"Moreover, I believe so firmly and implicitly in the value of this club, in the busy life of its members, that I pledge a good share of my time and experience towards planting it where we all wished it would be, in the front ranks of the women's organizations.

"To do this, will require the whole-hearted co-operation of all you splendid women. Upon you depends the real success of future activities. Will you show your willingness to help by being present at 'my' first meeting next Tuesday evening? I promise you short 'peppy' business sessions, and interesting programs, not too long, while I am president.

"If you can, please bring a friend who is eligible to membership. We will begin promptly at 7:30. You can't afford to be late, or miss the meeting. May I count on your being with us for sure?"

Will Present Program
At this first meeting a short program, "A Little Bit of Everything," will be given by Dr. Marian Tracy Whiting, president of the South Side Ethel club of Los Angeles. Dr. Whiting is a dramatic reader and vocalist, and the Glendale club is anxiously waiting her appearance Tuesday night.

After the program, refreshments will be served.

HUSBANDS TO BE GUESTS AT CLUB

Program, to Include Comedy
By Noted Artist, Will Be Presented

The customary meeting hour of the Tuesday Afternoon club is to be advanced tomorrow, to evening, when the club husbands and escorts will be honored guests at a club meeting and program, in the auditorium, at the clubhouse. These club guests will enjoy a real treat, for they will not only be entertained with a program, but will have an opportunity to witness the women's organization in session.

Mrs. Daniel Campbell will direct a short business hour at 7 o'clock, and then after greeting the guests, she will present Geraldine Jacobi Russell, who will give the play "Adventures of Lady Ursula," by Anthony Hope. Assisting on the program will be Vera Isom, violinist, who will play "Humorous" (Koepping).

Will Present Comedy
"Adventures of Lady Ursula," is a four-act comedy, originally presented in London, in 1895. The time of the play is in day of duelling, and the situations and dialogues are most entertaining.

Mrs. Russell, who is a graduate of the Emerson School of Oratory, Boston, is an actress of wide experience, having appeared with George Arliss in "Disraeli," and Henry Miller in "Daddy Long Legs."

The cast of the play includes the following characters, all portrayed by Mrs. Russell: Lady Ursula Harrington; the Earl of Haversden; her brother, Sir Walter Harrington; another brother, Sir George Sylvester; Mr. Jack Castleton; Rev. Mr. Blimboe; Mrs. Fenton; Dorothy Fenton, betrothed to Lord Haversden; Quilton, the servant.

K. C. TURKEY RAFFLE

Glendale Knights of Columbus are going to swell their fund for Christmas charities with a big turkey raffle tomorrow night at 8 o'clock at the clubhouse at 339 East Lomita avenue.

TODAY—Pennsylvania Much in Limelight; Pinchot Real "National Figure."

By W. B. BROWN
By International News Service

HARRISBURG, Pa., Nov. 26.—Pennsylvania for perhaps the first time is enjoying the experience of having a national figure for governor. Pennsylvania governors have been famous for a number of things within the state's own borders, but few of them have been national figures. With the possible exception of John K. Tener, who was prominent in baseball circles, Governor Pinchot is the first executive in whom visitors here from other states are vitally interested.

A good many of Pennsylvania's governors have been famed for their ability in politics. Pennsylvania's brand of politics has long been nationally famous, but the men who by their ability in that particular line succeeded to the office of the chief executive seldom attracted much attention. One of Pennsylvania's recent governors was famous mostly for the number and length of his proclamations. The approach of almost any sort of event was sufficient cause for him to instruct his secretary to "take his pen in hand" and issue a lengthy proclamation about it. On several occasions he overlooked the possibility of a proclamation until the event was past, but found an excuse for its issuance just the same. Another governor was mostly famous for his visits to the capital city. His absence from the capital of the state during the four years of his term could easily have been described by a social editor writing, "The governor and his wife have gone to Harrisburg for a few days."

After all those governors comes Gifford Pinchot, a national figure when few Pennsylvanians even knew he claimed the state as his home. The present governor also is away a great deal, but when he is in Harrisburg he is an exceptionally busy man. When he is away it is almost always on business.

ness of state or nation. When he is here he is busy with a thousand details and grievances that few other governors would even have permitted to come as close as their secretaries' private office. One of the most popular things in Pennsylvania localities just now is to send a deputation to see the governor. No one ever tried to estimate just how many deputations the governor receives in the course of a month, but there is a lot of them. If the state highway department runs a new road which runs counter to the wishes of the village—and there are many of them—that village promptly appoints a delegation of prominent citizens to see the governor. If municipal affairs at any place are not being administered properly, or a railroad wants to abolish a grade crossing, the popular method is to send anywhere from three to thirty citizens to talk it over with the governor. Add to that the various self-admitted "Pinchot workers" and even a casual visitor will understand why the waiting room at the executive offices is usually filled.

The popularity of those conferences is partly explained by the fact that the governor sees all of the deputations. Sometimes they have to wait quite a while, for the governor is always busy. There are few, however, who wait who do not finally get a hearty handshake, a pleasant word and careful attention. Even the carpet in the governor's waiting room is beginning to show the wear of conferences.

Within the last few weeks some of the country's best special writers have been among the governor's visitors. Magazines with big national circulation constantly are sending men to Harrisburg for some kind of information about the new sort of governor that sits in the chief office of "political Pennsylvania."

Timely Views on World Topics

"AMERICA CAN MAKE OR BREAK RUSSIA," SAYS BISHOP

Declaring that "Methodism's finest piece of evangelism would be a co-ordination of the church's forces with that orthodox church of Russia," Bishop Edgar Blake, Methodist Episcopal bishop of Paris, France, pointed out in an address recently that "the future of Russia lies in the trend of her religious thinking."

Bishop Blake returned recently from an extensive stay in Russia, where he reviewed the religious situation of other denominations, as well as his own. "The reactionary leaders of the orthodox church no longer hold sway," he said. "The powers in the Russian orthodox church are much akin to our own denomination. They hold in their grasp the destiny of the future Russia."

Bishop Blake declared he is sympathetic with socialism, "in so far as it has relieved suffering and want, and is destroying illiteracy, and promoting general organization."

"But," he continued, "I am vigorously opposed to any system that engenders class spirit, whether it is in Russia or America. I am opposed to a dictatorship in Russia, Germany or Oklahoma."

The speaker characterized Russia's situation as "America's opportunity." Russia, he said, looms as one of the greatest powers. America, he asserted, can by its example, make Russia a power for good or by its indifference allow the young giant to sink into darkness.

"FIGHT IN CHINA BETWEEN THE RED AND THE WHITE"

The future of China depends on the formation of a wider, enlightened public opinion among its people, and this can be brought about solely by education of the Chinese masses. So declares Rev. Robert G. Boville, president of the World Association of Daily Vacation Bible Schools. The truest safeguard of American life, is the American public school. China is short on the little red schoolhouse. It has 73,000,000 children between six and twelve years, and 69,000,000 of these have neither school teachers, school books, nor schoolhouses. That is why 300,000,000 of the most industrious and peace-loving people on earth allow themselves to be man-handled and mismanaged by a few million scoundrels. China has a million and a half soldiers it doesn't need, and doesn't want, instead of a million and a half teachers it both needs and wants.

Rev. Boville recently returned from China, where he assisted the Chinese student campaign against illiteracy and insurrection. Last summer, he said, 5,000 Chinese students spent two months teaching in elementary vacation schools.

Referring to the operations of Bolshevism in China, Dr. Boville said:

"Moscow is the center of the most daring and deliberate propaganda of today. It has set out to capture the illiterate populations of India, China and Central Asia. It functions already in China, in the growing banditry, which is Bolshevism, without any previous study of Karl Marx."

Next Fifty Years to Decide

"In the next fifty years, China will become either the stabilizer of peace on the Pacific water front or a volcano erupting Bolshevism. It will be a fight between the red schoolhouse, and the red flag. What America needs to do, is to promote in every way possible, schools for the children of China—public schools and normal schools. China is at present top-heavy with universities."

"The Chinese people are hungry for schools. Even the coolies have the highest respect for a scholar. One of these, in answer to the question, 'How many children have you?' replied, 'I have eight months and one scholar.' Real friends of a peaceful, progressive China must give more attention to elementary schools and whatever other foundations are needed, there is needed supremely a foundation to foster Chinese public schools."

It is necessary to add nine miles to all the jokes about the three-mile limit—Bellefontaine (O.) Examiner.

Rockefeller's Nephew And Bride Not Afraid

Godfrey S. Rockefeller and his bride in their apartment in Albany—on $20 per week.

Godfrey S. Rockefeller, son of the late William G. Rockefeller and grandnephew of John D. Rockefeller, has accepted a position as clerk in a bank at Albany, N. Y., at $20 per week. Neither Mr. Rockefeller nor the bank officials think the situation unusual but the newspapers think differently. "If the reporters don't stop bothering me I'll probably lose my job," remarked young Mr. Rockefeller. Mrs. Rockefeller, who before her marriage was Miss Helen Gratz of St. Louis, thinks that when the modest apartment is settled it will "be nice."

Heart and Home Problems

By MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I met a girl about two years ago, and fell in love and married her, but she deceived me and also her mother; deceived me by talking about her being such a dear, good girl and perfect lady. She had been ruined, but with my blinding love, I believed her mother's two-faced talk.

We were married last fall and lived happily for about a year. Then I had it dashed up to me what she was, and it certainly did hurt. To make things worse, when I asked her if it were so, she admitted it. She said she could not help it then, and wanted me to forget and forgive. One day I got word she had been free and easy with a fellow for a year. Then I was ready to give up, but she begged forgiveness, and I forgave.

Then her mother started things and put my wife up to paying no attention to me, and to doing as she pleased. I could not stand that, and I told her so. The girl still said she wanted me, but her mother was not satisfied and she finally got her away from me for a while. But she came back, and I forgave her, but she was not the same as before. Now she has gone again through her mother's influence. I don't believe her father ever said a word. I think he is a perfect gentleman, and I do not think he knows anything about his daughter's bad habits before marriage. He is an honest, hard-working man. But the mother is a corker.

My wife loves me, and says she does, and she well knows I love her, but she is afraid of her mother. She is young yet, only twenty-two in January, and I am a great deal older. She told me the last talk I had with her, that she would not say she did not love me. Then her mother showed her face and my wife would not say anything except she would not come back.

Would you try to forget her, or would you try to win her love back? LONELY HUSBAND.

Perhaps you have been tactless to your wife, regarding her unfortunate past, and have humiliated her when you did not intend to. You have said that her mother represented her as "a dear, good girl, and perfect lady." Surely you think of her in the same way in spite of her mistakes or you would not love her so dearly. The fact that she has made mistakes in her youth and ignorance, does not wipe out her sweetness and lovable character. By all means go on loving her with your whole heart. Love her so much that you will never mention the past again. Love her for what she is, and forget the unpleasant part. She will never be happy with you if she feels you consider yourself pure and holier than she is.

Try not to think too harshly of the mother. Your wife loves her mother, and she will want you to overlook the mother's failings and show respect to her. Let love and kindness guide you, and I am confident that in time your wife will return.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: Do you think vanishing cream causes growth of hair on the face? ANXIOUSLY WAITING.

Vanishing cream is no more apt to cause a growth of hair on the face, than any other cream. Good creams of both kinds, are guaranteed not to grow hair. Ask your druggist to recommend something for your use.

Two Girls Injured in Automobile Accident

Charlotte and Allison, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Goldsborough, 1937 Gardena avenue, were severely bruised as the result of an accident at the corner of Glendale avenue and San Fernando road late Saturday afternoon.

The little girls were returning from a party, and, according to witnesses, in order to get out of the way of a car coming at a high rate of speed from Los Angeles on San Fernando road stopped in front of a car going toward town driven by Thomas Swenson, 903 South Fremont street, Alhambra. Fortunately Mr. Swenson was driving very slowly. He was unable to stop his car before he had knocked the girls down, however. They were taken to their home where medical examination showed that no bones were broken.

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

— BY HOWARD R. GARIS —

UNCLE WIGGILY'S RED EARS

Mr. Twistytail, the gentleman pig, grunted once or twice, wrinkled his rubbery nose in a funny way and tapped on the door of Uncle Wiggily's hollow stump bungalow.

"Hello!" called the rabbit gentleman from within. "Who is there?"

"It is I—Mr. Twistytail," answered the pig. "Will you please come and help me, Uncle Wiggily?"

"Help you? Good gracious! What is the matter?" cried Mr. Longears, opening the door and looking at his pig friend. "Is the Fuzzy Fox or the Wozzie Wolf after you?" asked the bunny.

"Not quite as bad as that," grunted the gentleman pig. "But I would like you to come to the field with me and help me husk my ears."

"Husk your ears? What do you mean?" cried Uncle Wiggily.

"I mean husk my ears of corn," went on the pig. The corn is now ripe in the field. It has been cut down and piled into shocks."

"Shocks are those little things that look like Indian tents which the boys make, aren't they?" asked the bunny.

"Yes," grunted Mr. Twistytail. "But the corn must be broken from the stalks and the leaves that cover the ear must be pulled off. These leaves are the husks, and as I have much corn this year I would like you to come to the field with me and help me husk it."

"I shall be glad to do that," said Mr. Longears. So, Uncle Wiggily and Mr. Twistytail went to the gentleman pig's corn field. There the hard, dry ears of corn, still fast to the stalks, were stacked in piles like tents. Over each ear was a covering of husk, to keep the kernels of corn clean.

"Now we shall sit down by the piles of corn stalks," grunted Mr. Pig. "And break off the ears of corn. As fast as you take the husks off throw the ears of corn into this basket. Then I will give you some to take home to pay for helping me."

"Thank you—that will be fine," spoke Uncle Wiggily. "Nurse Jane can make me a corn cake." All of a sudden, as Uncle Wiggily was husking some ears of corn he found one colored bright red.

"Oh, what does this mean?" cried the bunny. "This ear of corn looks like a red Easter egg."

"That's a sign of good luck," grunted the pig. "Nearly all ears of corn are yellow, but, once in a while we find a red one, and it is sure to bring you good luck."

"I am glad of that," laughed the bunny. He stuck the red ear of corn upright in a pile of stalks behind him and went on husking. "Have you found a red ear yet, Mr. Twistytail?" asked the rabbit gentleman.

"No, I have not that good luck," grunted the pig. "Well, I have lots of luck today," said the rabbit uncle. "Here is another red ear!" and he held up a second one.

"I should say you did have good luck," grunted Mr. Twistytail. "Perhaps I shall be lucky enough to have a surprising adventure," spoke Uncle Wiggily.

And he did. Uncle Wiggily took the second ear of red corn he had found and stuck that beside the first one in the pile of corn stalks behind him. Then, having nearly filled the basket with ears of yellow corn, Uncle Wiggily and Mr. Twistytail thought they would lie down on the soft husks and rest.

Uncle Wiggily stretched himself out close to where he had stuck the red ears of corn up straight in the pile of stalks. As Mr. Twistytail was making a bed for himself near by, the pig looked up, laughed and said:

"Those two red ears of corn you stuck up, Uncle Wiggily, look almost like my own rabbit ears."

"Do they?" asked the bunny. "Well, no matter." But it did matter, as you shall soon see. Pretty soon Uncle Wiggily and Mr. Twistytail fell asleep. And, then came creeping along the Fuzzy Fox. The Fox crept up softly through the corn field, close to the pile of stalks behind which Uncle Wiggily was resting. The Fox saw the corn ears sticking up and thought they were the bunny's ears.

"But they are very red," thought the Fox. "No matter. They are red because of the cold."

Here is another red ear!

teeth and he hurt his mouth, and he gave such a howl that Uncle Wiggily and the pig awakened.

"Ha! Ha!" laughed the bunny as he saw that the Fox had nibbled the red ears of corn. "That's a good joke." But the Fox didn't think so. Angry and with aching teeth, the Fox ran home to his den and the bunny and the pig gentlemen took the basket of corn home, so all ended happily.

And if the water wagon doesn't freeze, turn, into a cake of ice and go skating, all by itself, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the fire stick.

Dinner Stories

A northern man, spending the summer in the south, went to see the last game of a series between two local teams, reports Everybody's. For a time, he could not observe any umpire, but at last he spied him sitting up in the grandstand amongst the spectators.

"Great guns, man!" the northerner exclaimed to a native. "What's the umpire doing up in the grandstand?"

"Well," the native explained, "the spectators used to accuse him of hum work so much, that he allowed that if the folks up in the grandstand could see every play so darned good, he'd go up there to do his umpiring."

It was a negro ball game in Kansas City, declares Judge. The umpire was a slightly built, small voiced yellow lad. Along toward the seventh inning, with things looking bad for the home team, the local Babe Ruth came to bat. He was a six-foot-three truck driver, and, beside the umpire, looked like Goliath. Over came the first ball, rather wide, and the umpire called "One strike."

The giant gave the dictator a look, but said nothing. Another wind-up, and here came the second throw. The batter started but stopped. Mr. Umps called out close to the pile of stalks behind which Uncle Wiggily was resting. The Fox saw the corn ears sticking up and thought they were the bunny's ears.

"But they are very red," thought the Fox. "No matter. They are red because of the cold."

Diet and Health

By Lulu Hunt Peters, M.D.
Author of "Diet and Health, with Key to the Calories"

The School Lunch

In many places the schools are now serving noon lunches, or at least some hot dishes that can be used with the food brought from home. If that is true in your locality, it will simplify matters for you. If it isn't true, can't you get the Parent-Teacher organization interested in making it true? A hot lunch, or at least a hot nourishing soup or drink, is extremely desirable for children who cannot go home at noon. Send to the United States Department of Agriculture and ask for Farmers' Bulletin No. 12 on the "School Lunch." That will give you some valuable suggestions.

If children are given money to buy their lunches from the nearby stores, they must be instructed to buy wholesome sandwiches and milk before candies, ice creams, etc., are indulged in. It will be well to investigate what kind of foods are sold and the method of handling.

Instruct the children to wash their hands and faces before eating, and not to exchange spoons or other utensils with the other children.

The Basket Lunch

If the lunch is carried in a basket or pail or box, this container must be one that can be sealed often. So the simplest type of boxes and baskets should be used. The metal boxes that are strapped with the schoolbooks are most convenient. Three or four small holes can be punched in these to let in the air.

Paper napkins and oiled papers can be obtained at very low prices, and food should be wrapped in these, and two extra napkins included—one to put over the desk or lap, and one to use for the hands and mouth. Paper cups and cartons can also be secured at moderate prices, and these can be used for the semi-solid foods.

Jelly tumblers with covers and small jars with screw tops can also be used.

The basis of the school lunch is a good sandwich. This can contain the protein part of the meal, and at times the sweet part when filled with jelly, sweet fruit, etc. Whole wheat bread should be used most of the time, with brown bread, French rolls, corn bread, raisin or nut bread for a change.

Cut the sandwich in two, diagonally or lengthwise. Wrap each article separately, putting the things least likely to crush in the bottom of the basket.

When milk cannot be taken for the lunch, see that the child gets its minimum requirement for the day—1½ pints—at the other two meals.

Suggested Menus

1. Sandwiches made of Boston brown bread and whole wheat bread, filling of cottage cheese mixed with a little strained tomato; place a lettuce leaf over this with a little mayonnaise or boiled dressing; cookies; 1 orange or other fresh fruit—eat last.
2. Crisp rolls with the centers taken out, filled with chopped meat or fish or beans or peas, moistened with a little melted butter or cream sauce or mayonnaise.
3. Nut bread and butter sandwiches; some tender raw carrots; gingerbread; raisins.
4. Whole wheat bread and butter sandwiches; deviled eggs; radishes or some other raw vegetable; a cup of junket.
5. Cream, Swiss, or other cheese sandwich made of whole wheat bread; well-washed dates or figs, stuffed with nuts, or some raisins and nuts; apple, pear, orange or other fresh fruit.

MODELS FOR GROWN-UPS AND YOUNGSTERS

Useful are the styles pictured here, the apron featuring a new idea. The extensions at the lower edges of the back section are buttoned to the front. A patch pocket may be added or omitted, as fancy dictates. If a touch of trimming is desired, rick-rack braid could outline the neck and armholes. Medium size requires 1 1/2 yards 36-inch material.

Cotton, woolen and sliken fabrics are suited to the development of the little dress pictured to the right, with closing on the shoulders. The front and back yokes are cut in one with the front and back of the dress. It is an easy matter, if desired, to lengthen the sleeves with straight sections and gather the sections to narrow wristbands. The scalloped lower edge of the dress and the sleeves are bound with ribbon. Medium size requires 1 5/8 yards 40-inch material and 4 yards of ribbon.

First model: Pictorial Review dress No. 1747. Sizes 36 to 44 inches bust. Price 30 cents.
Second model: Dress No. 1733. Sizes 2 to 6 years. Price 25 cents.

With the Women of Today

By MRS. LILIAN CAMPBELL

Even in far away India, where women have always occupied a very inferior position, they are entering the professions and proving that they can do the same work as men. Mrs. J. E. Cousins of Madras, has been appointed to the post of magistrate. She is the first woman in India to receive such an appointment.

WOMEN URGED TO SELL HAIR TO AID GERMANY

Patriotic wartime measures, such as women and girls cutting off their hair for the market, and the sale of wedding rings and family treasures, are proposed by Bavarian leaders, who assert that they and thousands of others, are eager to aid Germany to regain a permanent place in world affairs.

WOMEN AS PHYSICIANS

"The country-bred girl makes a better physician than the city flapper," says Dr. Maude Abbott, noted medical authority and educator, who teaches in the Woman's Medical Training College, of Pennsylvania.

ORIGIN OF EARRINGS

The present earring craze is a recrudescence of a fashion which dates back to earliest times, men as well as women being swayed by the custom, especially among orientals.

Earrings were worn by both sexes among the Persians, Babylonians, Lydians, and Carthaginians. They were always worn by the Greek women from Hera, in the Iliad, down to Venus de Midiet, whose ears are pierced for the reception of earrings. Many Egyptian earrings of very beautiful design have been imitated in modern times.

In England, earrings were worn by the Romanized Britons and by Anglo-Saxons. After the tenth century, they went out of fashion in Europe, not to be reintroduced until the sixteenth century. Stubbs, writing in Queen Elizabeth's day, says:

"The women are not ashamed to make holes in their ears, whereat they hang rings and other jewels of gold and precious stones."

Searing men, especially of the southern nations of Europe, have retained the use of earrings, commonly in the form of gold hoops. They have, of course, always found favor with the women.

retained the use of earrings, commonly in the form of gold hoops. They have, of course, always found favor with the women.

BEAUTY CHATS

Few women over 40 years of age have a good chin line; in fact, few women of 30 possess a really smooth, firm line running from the chin to the throat. Yet it is possible to keep this feature youthful well into middle age.

If you are too stout, so that a pocket of flesh forms under the skin and gives you that dreaded double chin appearance, the thing to do is to diet until you are the proper weight, and to massage away this unnecessary flesh. As you reduce some of this flesh will naturally be absorbed into the system; if you are fortunate all of it will be absorbed; but a vigorous massage will always help. The flesh, however, will be stretched and must be treated with astringents, otherwise it will hang in loose folds.

Chin strapping is a comparatively easy way of keeping this line young. The face, neck and particularly the chin should be massaged with a good flesh-building cream. Long strips of muslin or gauze should then be rolled round the chin and over the head, spreading out fan shape over the head so they will be held firmly. The bandage should be tight enough to strap up all this loose skin, but not tight enough to interfere with your breathing. It acts on the chin very much as a corset does on the abdomen. It holds back and holds up the sagging muscles and prevents further spreading and stretching, and while it is not always desirable to use a brace, still is a good thing to use at night and also to take exercises to strengthen these muscles.

These chin stretching exercises are often given here. Bend the head backwards with the mouth open as far as it will go and slowly close the mouth. Open and close a dozen or more times. Rolling the head round the shoulders is also beneficial.

Trudy A.: Clip closely, but do not shave the stray hairs that look so untidy at the back of the neck when the hair is bobbed. Shaving will make the hair grow out coarser, and therefore become more conspicuous.

Betty B.: I will be glad to mail you the information for improving the lashes and brows, but there is not space here to print it at this time.

Marie: The exercise from rolling the eye-balls around a circle in each direction, as well as that of turning them from side to side and up and down, will be found very strengthening to the sight, but I do not think it will make the eyes any larger.

This takes ten years from your profile.

Tomorrow—Answered Letters.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes, in care of the "Beauty Chats" department will be answered in these columns in the nearest possible time. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

AS A MATTER OF POLICY

If a policeman should tell you just where to get off.

Don't stop to argue about it or scoff.

Always agree with 'em. Never get free with 'em.

For a cop has the billy and badge and the gat.

And usually knows about where he is at.

You may think you're the works and are destiny's child.

But an angry patrolman can't be reconciled.

If you're driving along the wrong side of the street.

And a cop comes along and bawls you out de suite.

Keep your mouth shut of it. Don't make a rout of it.

Or else you'll be looking at out-doors from in.

Here's to the girl I love; I love her, I love her again.

Far more than the heavens above She shops at the five-and-ten.

You can't always stop things that you can begin.

And a gent that's all dressed up in blue and in brass

Is the cheese and the boy and the top of the class.

Though most of the time you are right to be right.

You won't, if you're half way and reasonably bright.

Start contradicting. For any conflicting

Starts you for the place where by force you're kept meek

And callers may visit you once in a week.

For I failed to follow this rule at one time.

If there is one menu in the entire year that is easy to plan it is the Thanksgiving dinner menu.

For the time-honored turkey, cranberries, mince and pumpkin pies and other "fixin's" are just as popular today as when grandmother served them. Thanksgiving would not seem like Thanksgiving without these customary viands.

Yet even for such well-known dishes as these, recipes often vary. So today I am going to give you my way of cooking some of them:

"Thanksgiving Potato Cake": Beat one cup of mashed potatoes till soft and creamy with one cup of warm milk and a tablespoon of butter. Whip two eggs light and add them to the creamy potato.

Season with salt and pepper to taste and stir in one tablespoon of finely-minced raw onion. Turn the mixture into a buttered baking dish and bake, covered for 30 minutes in a good oven. This dish must be baked just one-half hour before dinner so that it can be served as soon as taken from the oven. If allowed to stand for more than a short while it is likely to fall. (For a large family this recipe must of course be doubled.)

Mince-meat for the Thanksgiving Pies: Boil two pounds of sirloin beef till tender (putting it over in hot water). Put it through your food chopper and measure it. To two cups of it add two cups of seeded raisins, one and one-half cups of dried currants, three cups of brown sugar, one scant cup of New Orleans molasses, five cups of tart chopped apples (skin, seeds and cores removed), one teaspoon of salt, one tablespoon of ground cinnamon, one-half teaspoon of ground cloves, one-half teaspoon of ground nutmeg, one-fourth teaspoon of mace, the grated rind and the juice of three lemons, one heaping tablespoon of finely cut citron, two cups of boiled cider and one cup of water in which the beef was boiled. Mix and bring slowly to a boil, then continue to boil till the apples are clear—about 40 minutes. Cool, and place in the ice box till the day before Thanksgiving, when you make your pies.

Sage and Onion Turkey Stuffing: Although some women like Chestnut Stuffing or Oyster Stuffing for turkey, the average housewife prefers the good, old-fashioned stuffing that her grandmother made, as follows: Moisten three cups of rolled bread crumbs with one egg; season with one teaspoon of salt, a little pepper, one-fourth teaspoon of sage and two tablespoons of chopped raw onion which has been cooked in a little butter till slightly soft. (For a very large bird, double this recipe.)

All inquiries addressed to Miss Kirkman in care of the "Efficient Housekeeping" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So, if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question. Be sure to use your full name, street number, and the name of your city and state.—The Editor.

To Many Glendalians Trading at Home Is Second Nature

New people are coming to Glendale daily, fresh from the older settlements of the east and middle west. It is not to be expected that these newcomers should be as loyal Glendalians as we who are older settlers here, and yet most of them are. Glendale is to them a little like the adopted child who told her playmate, "Your parents had to take you but mine picked me out." The very fact that they have selected Glendale out of thousands of other places in the United States is proof that Glendale has an appeal that promotes pride and loyalty.

The newcomer becomes a Glendalian at once. He becomes acclimated immediately and Glendale's advantages and problems become his. Ten to one this new citizen has become one of us because he has visited Glendale, saw our splendid, growing business district, and decided that a city of such push and hustle was a good place to call home.

It follows naturally, then, that having been attracted by our fine stores and offices and our business activity, that Mr. New Citizen transacts his business and spends his money in his newly adopted city.

So Glendale business is indebted to the newcomer as well as to the older settler for the rapid strides it has taken.

The advertisers on this page recognize and acknowledge their indebtedness to the new people as well as to the older citizens of Glendale; to all those to whom Community Loyalty is instinctive; to those who buy at home because it is the natural thing to do; not because they have analyzed the matter and come to the conclusion that it is to their own interest; not because they have stopped to consider that money spent in Glendale will return to their advantage by way of added local improvements and increased property values; but just because Community Loyalty is part of their natures.

It is these people who are helping to build a Greater Glendale.

THIS page appears in The Glendale Evening News once a week. On another page is a classified index which explains the location of the cards on this page. The building of a greater community sentiment is the purpose of this page. Co-operation between the merchant and the buyer put into actual practice is a community builder.

BURBANK

BOND ISSUE FOR $100,000 PLANNED

School Facilities Must Be Enlarged to Care for Huge Attendance

With a view to floating in Burbank a bond issue of not less than $100,000, for the purpose of providing additional school facilities, a survey of the situation is to be made by the following committee, who will report back to the school board Monday night, December 3.

Mrs. C. K. Bowen, chairman; Mayor J. C. Crawford, A. E. W. Yale, Miss Octavia Lesueur, Mrs. Walter C. Fisher and Mrs. Ida L. K. Clark.

The meeting at which this committee was appointed was held Thursday night, November 22, at the high school, and was attended by the school board, principals and the general public.

Following introductory remarks by Principal Moore, J. J. King, a member of the board, took the chair and after stating the purpose of the meeting, called on L. F. Collins, superintendent of the grade schools, for statistics relative to congestion.

All figures in Mr. Collins' remarks tended to show that the situation was critical and must be remedied at once. Mayor Crawford took issue with those who wished to float the bond issue, pleading economy in a strong speech, and urging that the matter be held in abeyance until the next assessment, when there would be a greatly increased basis for revenue.

Loma Theatre Opens Over 1000 people were present last Thursday night at the opening of Burbank's newest film citadel, the Loma Theatre. Large baskets of flowers made the lobby a mass of bloom and fragrance, while music was furnished by the Loma orchestra that will henceforth be a regular feature.

A. F. Minor, who will manage the theatre, is also in the orchestra, which includes Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Loser, Harry Miller and Eugene Eklott. A special combination organ supplements the orchestra, offering such attachments as to reproduce the crack of a pistol, bang of an anvil, whistle of a train, striking of a clock and shriek of the wind.

The lighting effects, especially fine, are the work of E. T. Minor of the Minor Electric shop. One of the features is a novelty clock that every minute and a half throws a beam of light on the dial, showing the audience the exact time.

H. S. Musicians at Church Sunday night, November 25, the high school orchestra, under the direction of H. S. White, played at the First Methodist church. The musical program for the morning was:

Organ Prelude—"Meditation"—Batiste
Offertory—"Communion"—Brown
Anthem—"Praise the Lord O. Jerusalem"—Mauder
Postlude—"March"—Moir
The evening service was devoted to the concert. The program follows:

University's Stadium Fittingly Dedicated

BERKELEY, Cal., Nov. 26.—The army, navy, student body, alumni and citizens of today joined in impressive dedication ceremonies marking the completion of the new $1,000,000 University of California war stadium.

The stadium was designed as a war memorial. An inscription in bronze letters in the arch of the north entrance to the great concrete bowl reads:

"In memory of Californians who gave their lives in the World War, 1914-1918."
The memorial address was delivered by John R. Quinn, national commander of the American Legion and a graduate of the University of California in the class of 1912. President W. W. Campbell of the university unveiled the memorial tablet, and to a woman—a nurse—fell the honor of the most touching part of the ceremonies.

Miss M. M. Pickering, director of the nursing school, university hospital and members of the nursing staff of Base Hospital 55, A. E. F., laid a memorial wreath below the inscription on the arch as taps sounded from the bugles of the assembled troops.

The G. A. R., Spanish war veterans, American Legion, 30th infantry, U. S. A., naval unit Mare island, U. S. A., representatives of the allies, national guard, Red Cross and the University R. O. T. C. were all represented in the impressive parade which marked the opening of the exercises.

Oklahoma County Hails 70-Year-Old As Oldest Daddy

Barbara Ann Vore

A father at 70! Frank Vore, county commissioner of Muskogee county, Okla., who lives at Webbers Falls, claims to be the oldest daddy in the United States. He is 70 years old and 29 year old wife bore him a baby girl May 11.

"If you know of a pretty view," he says, "or have a good photograph, send it in. And don't fail to send in any literature you feel will fit into the needs of the booklet."

Although the Chamber of Commerce will sponsor this booklet, it is hoped that a number of business houses will help support it.

"Let There Be Light—" Occidental students held their annual rally last Friday night, in preparation for the annual game with Pomona, which took place Saturday, November 24.

Although Eagle Rock glimmered in candle light for over a half hour, from 6 until 6:30 o'clock, those at the big Occidental rally were not inconvenienced, as the college building is located just within the Los Angeles former city limits, and is on a different electric sub-station.

Additional light was furnished by a big bonfire that lit the campus, when, at 7:30 o'clock, the students climbed the hill near the president's home, where a beehive of wood had been prepared, and touched it off. Atop the flaming beehive, was a large letter "P," standing for Pomona college.

In the light of the bonfire the students paraded around the campus in their pajamas, while the girls and visitors sat across the hill and cheered. Then a spotlight was thrown on a grove across the hill, revealing the Occidental "tiger."

Later there was a program of speaking, headed by President Remsen du Bois Bird, of Occidental college, who wished the students success in their game. Coach Jo Pipal followed, with a talk, wherein he told the student body that Occidental had an exceptionally strong eleven this year and should succeed in "bringing back the bacon" from Claremont.

C. of C. Directors to Meet Tomorrow night, Tuesday, November 27, the regular meeting of the Chamber of Commerce directors will be held at 8 o'clock, in the city hall auditorium, when President O. J. Root, will preside, and outline activities.

Mr. Root particularly urges every director to be present, as important business is up for consideration. "This is the time of the year," he says, "when all our efforts should be concentrated in accomplishing the maximum for the benefit of the city. We have, moreover, a number of matters of policy to decide."

VALLEY NEWS REALTORS SCORE SITE APPRAISAL

Value of Hospital Property Placed Too Low, Claim Van Nuys Brokers

The Van Nuys Realty board has severely criticized the appraisal of $60,000 placed on the veterans' hospital site near San Fernando, by certain Los Angeles groups, which were asked, apparently by the Veterans' Bureau, to place their valuation on the land.

A group of San Fernando valley realtors, who recently looked over the land carefully, reported back an appraisal of $125,000, which the Van Nuys Realty board feels comes much nearer than the other, which they term as "ridiculously low."

It is now feared that, owing to the adverse appraisal by Los Angeles interests, Major General Hines, of the Veterans' Bureau, will not recommend purchase of the property, in which case a real injury has been done the entire San Fernando valley.

At the annual banquet of the Van Nuys Realty board, to be held the night of December 13 at the Hollywood Country club, this matter will be further discussed. On that night also, annual election of officers will take place.

Arrangements for the banquet are in the hands of W. W. Todd, Leslie B. Taylor, and M. A. Besolo. The nominating committee is to comprise R. H. Dunn, F. W. Berkshire, and Homer Luthy.

Hotel For Lankershim On Monday night, November 26, the hotel committee of the Lankershim Chamber of Commerce will make a report of its findings on the recent visit to Fullerton, when they studied the hotel there, states George Taylor, chairman of the hotel committee.

All persons interested in Lankershim having a hotel are invited to be present at this meeting. The hotel will be a community affair from start to finish, Mr. Taylor states. The stock will be subscribed by local people, the officers will be local people, and all materials and positions that possibly can be filled by local people will be assigned. Naturally, it stands to reason that the hotel will have to employ outside brains here and there, in its erection, and it may be that it will have to be leased to an experienced hotel man for operation when completed.

Beans Up 1 Cent On December 1, members of the Van Nuys and Owensmouth Bean Growers' association, will receive checks including an extra 1 cent per pound on beans, such decision following a conference of officers of the association, in which it was pointed out that members need cash reserves to meet taxes due before December 3.

With the present quotation of $9.65 per hundred on baby limas, the reaction following the high price of $10.55 is clearly seen. Telegraphic inquiries which deluged local brokers during the speculative period, are said to have long since ceased, and no recent inquiries have been received.

It is estimated that there remains unsold in the San Fernando valley, a total of 8000 sacks of baby limas, which the owners were holding for 12 cents per pound. Although it is just possible that renewed activity will manifest itself after January 15, it is pointed out that warehouse insurance, interest and other charges will average about 25 cents per month per hundred, for holding the beans.

Residents of the Universal City district have presented a petition to the state railroad commission, complaining against the 21 cent rate of the Pacific Electric to Hollywood boulevard.

Citizens are in favor of the movement to establish a park near Universal City and Mesdames Peace and Frost are devoting much of their time to the proposition.

It is reported that over $1,000,000 worth of property has been sold in the Cahuenga pass district within the past three months.

"Rintintin," the famous police dog of the films, will be seen in "Where the North Begins" tonight and tomorrow night at a Lankershim theatre.

Bear Ravages Cattle, Hunters in Pursuit

FERN, Shasta Co., Nov. 26.—Continued depredations among livestock by a bear in this vicinity has created much excitement. Local stockmen scout the theory that bears will not kill hogs and calves.

W. A. Bishop has recently lost several calves and many hogs have been killed. Nine hunters scouted Chatter Creek in the effort to bring Bruin. A glimpse several times was obtained, several shots were fired, and plenty of tracks were found, but the bear still is at large.

Policemen to Have Raise in Pay—Maybe SANTA ROSA, Cal., Nov. 26.—Santa Rosa's police force is to receive a raise in wages if the city council approves a resolution.

The city manager and council meet their request for a $20 a month increase with the offer to pay it if their activities put the necessary cash in the city treasury.

Hence the police force is unusually active and people generally are "watching their step." Gosh darn it!

TUJUNGA IMPROVEMENT OF HIGHWAY SOUGHT

Seek County Officials' Aid in Perfecting Plans for Boulevard

Plans for the improvement of Monte Vista boulevard through its entire length from the north end near Big Tujunga canyon to Michigan avenue and connection with Honolulu avenue are taking definite form. A committee of two, H. H. Breidt and John Bodkin, has been appointed to interview the county regional planning commission and the county supervisors for suggestions on carrying out the plan.

Many angles of the plan were discussed at a special meeting of the directors of the Tujunga Chamber of Commerce. The one most universally approved, as indicated by a report in the form of a recommendation from the special road committee, is to secure the improvement through the general fund of the county and not as local street work. Reasons advanced for this are that the boulevard is the logical one to connect with the proposed new road into Big Tujunga canyon and will also furnish relief to Michigan avenue traffic if continued at the east end to connect with Honolulu avenue.

Present Road Inadequate Residents and visitors alike are unanimous in the opinion that the original highway through the Verdugo hills from Montrose, where two streams of traffic join, one from Pasadena and one from Glendale, to San Fernando has become entirely inadequate by reason of the narrow paving.

It is hoped that in time something will be done by the county supervisors in having the pavement widened and organizations throughout the Tujunga valley are bending every effort to secure the improvement. With traffic on this narrow highway increasing daily it has reached a point where many motorists feel that it is unsafe to drive over it in the Sunday and holiday traffic. Serious accidents have occurred that could have been avoided on wider pavement.

Solution Is Offered Monte Vista boulevard offers a partial relief in handling traffic as far as Tujunga and diverting canyon travel, which is becoming very heavy, from the main stream along Michigan avenue. Another boulevard through the hills, probably an extension of the Foot-hill boulevard from Lamanda park westward, is believed by many to be the only solution of travel congestion in the section and one that is certain to come in time.

Turkeys To Meet Fate Thanksgiving is the last Thursday in November. Tomorrow is the last Sunday in November, especially for a flock of 100 turkeys that will be given as prizes by the American Legion of Tujunga, Post 250, in the shoot to be held on the Begue ranch east of Tujunga.

Commander Charles Keller will have charge of the rifle range and sharpshooters may begin firing at 9 o'clock in the morning and continue until sundown. The Auxiliary will serve lunch and conduct a refreshment booth.

REVENUE BUREAU IN NEW OFFICES

Entire Second Floor Federal Building Opened to Public Today

New quarters of the Southern California internal revenue bureau, which consists of the entire second floor of the Federal building, will be opened to the public today.

Reflecting the unprecedented growth of Southern California and of the business of the internal revenue district, the new offices of the bureau have been increased from 9000 square feet of floor space to 19,000 square feet.

Departing from the old style of housing federal employees in many small rooms, the entire bureau will be located in one immense office extending from Temple to Commercial street, and from Spring to New High, and with an area of 19,000 square feet. Every division of Collector Goodell's department will serve the public from this one big room which has been laid out along the lines of the recently remodeled New York Internal revenue bureau which is probably the most modern and up-to-date of the sixty-five collectors' offices in the United States.

Spring Street Entrance Entrance to the new quarters will be from the elevator at the main entrance to the Federal building on North Spring street. Later on another entrance will be installed from New High street.

In commenting on the government's policy of remodeling the collector's offices into modern business quarters, Collector Goodell pointed out that the remarkable growth of the Los Angeles district as a producer of federal revenue had called not only for more floor space but for an increase in the number of employees as well.

In 1915 the entire collections of the district were $2,503,447, as compared with $48,163,288 in 1923, which was greater than the combined collections of the entire states of Oregon, Washington, New Mexico, Wyoming, Nevada, Montana and Idaho, with Alaska included.

Tax Receipts Grow Income tax receipts in 1915 were $1,011,526, compared with $48,163,288 in 1923. In 1915 only 6912 returns were filed as against 240,279 in 1923. The amusement tax collected in 1918 was $582,666, while, for the fiscal year 1923 it was $2,920,812, which was more than the total revenue receipts for this district in 1915.
